Won't Rest On Laurels

Shepard Pledges To Press Ahead On Orbit Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The shouting is over and the nation's homage is his, but astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., isn't resting on his space laurels.

Shepard, America's first man in space, promised "we plan to press ahead with the best possible speed."

The next major mission is rocketing one of the seven astronauts into orbit around the earth.

The orbit flight is scheduled for sometime this year. But space agency chief James E. Webb cautioned: "If we are to have our spectacular successes—with even larger and ever more complex rockets, the early test flights unmanned of course, will involve some spectacular failures."

But the applause and accolades Monday were for a "spectacular success"—Navy Cmdr. Shepard's 115-mile voyage into space.

It was a day of pride and sentiment, tribute and humor for the calm man who—as one of his superiors put it—"really broke the ice for all of us."

He was decorated by the President, lauded by Congress, cheered by thousands as he was driven through the capital and—probably as important as any of the honors to him—was kissed by his family.

Also, in a nationally televised news conference, he gave a capsule view of his ride through space.

Last Friday morning, Shepard sat for more than four hours in the loneliness of his capsule before the rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral for his 15-minute flight to glory.

Flanked on the news conference platform by his fellow astronauts and the leaders of the nation's space program, Shepard told his story with composure and wit.

The applause was not so much for the events of the flight, which he showed a tendency to underdramatize, for his forthright way of handling queries. When he was asked if after he was picked to make the first ride into space he wished he was "in something else other than Project Mercury," Shepard replied: "That is the

Tri-State District Hit

4 Injured, $100,000 Loss Estimated In Heavy Storm

Broad Areas In Ohio Hit By Twisters

None Dead But Damage High In 6-County Section

By The Associated Press

Tornadic winds, spawned out of a spring thunderstorm, wrecked havoc in at least a six-county area of east central Ohio late Monday. Property damage was extensive, but no deaths were reported. A few suffered minor injuries.

Storms and floods hit the state in southern and central sectors.

Both the Weather Bureau and the Ohio Highway Patrol reported tornadoes, but in different places. Apparently it was the same twister threading a patch of destruction as it hopscotched across counties.

Southern Licking County got the first blow. What was described as a baby tornado licked out of the skies and—

Tore the roof off an automotive garage at Linville; toppled a screen at a drive-in movie at Heath; leveled a bar east of St. Louisville; demolished a trailer and blew part of the roof off an adjacent house on the north shore of Buckeye Lake; temporarily blocked roads with falling trees; and disrupted telephone and electrical service to scores of residents because of downed utility lines.

The twister, traveling west to east, then veered north and pummeled Coshocton County, while high winds on its outlying edges were busy tearing up the countryside in Fairfield, Perry, Carroll and Tuscarawas counties.

Here is a county - by - county breakdown of other damage as reported by sheriff's offices in the area:

Coshocton County — Radio station WTNS was knocked off the air in Coshocton, and police and sheriff's radio communications were also cut awhile. At West Lafayette, a barn on the farm of State Rep. Robert I. Evans collapsed on the cattle inside, killing about 11 of them and trapping the rest under debris.

Also in West Lafayette, part of the roof flew off the Jones Metal Products Co. in Warsaw, numerous small buildings and trees were downed. Another movie screen, valued at $10,000, was bowled over at the Tri-Dale Outdoor Theater near Coshocton. In the city of Coshocton, heavy rain flooded scores of basements.

Fairfield County — Half the roof was blown off the new high school at Millersport, and damage was estimated at around $5,000. Bleachers in the school stadium were knocked over. Also damaged in that village were buildings and utility lines.

Perry County—On the south side of Buckeye Lake, in the Avondale Park area, some homes were damaged.

Tuscarawas County—In the New Philadelphia and Dover areas, trees and power lines keeled over.

On the west side of New Philadelphia, several persons suffered minor injuries when high winds rolled over their house trailer. A huge barn and a new four-car concrete block garage near Dover were destroyed. No injuries were reported.

Carroll County—Leesville Lake and the southern portion of Carrollton were hardest hit. High

Rural Area Bears Brunt Of Winds

Business Building Damaged; Race Stables Destroyed

A severe thunder storm with heavy winds and rain lashed the tri-state district early Monday night, inflicting considerable damage and injuring at least four persons.

East End Run Stays 'Inside' First Time

For the first time in several years, the heavy rain did not cause a flood in the East End Run at Virginia Ave., Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin reported.

The department's employes started work last week on removal of debris and collapsed buildings alongside the property of M. F. Staats of Virginia Ave., which had been blamed for repeated floods. Laughlin said the channel had been opened to the point the storm water ran off without an overflow.

Damage was estimated conservatively at $100,000, including $20,000 at Waterford Park Race Track. The loss was estimated at $6,000 to a downtown building.

The storm, apparently the fringe of near cyclonic winds that struck at several places in counties west of Columbiana, hit about 7 last night.

A number of communities in Columbiana County suffered damage, including the Guilford Lake area, Columbiana and Leetonia, Salem, East Palestine and East Fairfield. Western Beaver County areas also were hit.

A number of structures were blown down or unroofed in rural areas around East Liverpool, a downtown business building was damaged, phone and power lines were cut and signs and television antennas were wrecked.

Damage may reach $5,000 or $6,000 to the Brookes Building on Market St. where a four-foot high parapet wall, limestone coping and a heavy wood cornice was blown loose from the building at the height of the storm.

Atty. Jason H. Brookes, co-owner of the 50-year-old building with his sister, Mrs. G. A. Patterson, said he would be unable to estimate the damage and officials of the Potters Construction Co. in charge of repairs also declined to make an estimate.

The brick parapet wall, limestone coping and wood cornice crashed into Market St. and flying debris broke two windows at the World Book & Bible House in an adjoining Brookes Building.

Falling from the top of the three-story building, the debris crashed through an outside basement door and section of pavement into the cellar, ripping out some sections of new outdoor lighting installed on the two buildings.

Richard V. Beatty, president of the Potters Construction Co., said an additional section of the wall

Budget Set For Midland School Funds

Amount Is Less But Tax Rate Will Be Raised 4 Mills

The Midland Board of Education Monday evening gave final approval to a 1961-1962 budget of $780,000, based on a tax rate of 29 mills on real estate, an increase of 4 mills over last year.

The final figure is the same as that adopted tentatively at the last board meeting April 10. The budget is $86,854 less than the budget of $866,854 last year on a rate of 25 mills.

The board authorized James Morrison, president, and Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary, to prepare advertisement for the sale of bonds, amounting to $140,900, at the board's June 12 meeting.

Some $120,000 was approved by the Beaver County Courts after a petition by the board to pay past current operating expenses. The additional $20,000 will be for capital outlay coming up.

The board authorized that the tax duplicate for 1961-62 be turned over to Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, and that he be advised to collect real estate taxes in four equal installments at face value. During September through December, no abatements will be allowed, the board said.

The Midland branch of the Beaver Trust Co. was named depository for the board's general account and the First National Bank for the payroll account.

Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, was rehired by the board for one year effective July 3 at a salary of $60 a month. Her bond was set at $10,000 and she must present proof of bond by July 3.

Miss Coffin was rehired as secretary for a four-year term at $1,000 a year, effective July 3. Dr. Robert Higginbotham was hired as school doctor for the coming year at a salary of $4,000, which will be paid in 10 installments.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal, was rehired as dental examiner at a fee of 75 cents per examination. The board approved permanent teaching certificates for four teachers for the coming year, Gerald LaValle, Miss Delores Marangoni, Darrell Stillwagon and Phillip

Woman Thief Gets Wallets And $55 Cash

3 Shoppers Report Pickpocket Losses In Downtown Store

The wallets of three women containing nearly $55 were stolen by a smooth-working woman pickpocket Monday afternoon while they were shopping in a downtown store.

Reporting the thefts early yesterday afternoon to police, Mrs. Rose Marrelli, 532 Mulberry St., said her wallet contained about $34; Mrs. Irene Snyder of St. Clair Ave. Ext. reported about $20 taken, and Mrs. Margaret Loos, 617 3rd St., Chester, said she lost about $1.50 from a change purse.

The three women were shopping independently of each other when the billfolds and change purse were lifted quietly from their pocketbooks in McCrory's 5 & 10 on E. 5th St.

All three women said they were jostled by a woman, but paid no attention at the time and didn't realize their billfolds had been taken. They were unable to give any description.

Mrs. Snyder said she was selecting Mother's Day cards when another woman standing next to her kept shoving her down the aisle in an attempt to reach some cards.

She paid no attention and the other woman gave up and walked around the counter. Mrs. Snyder said she discovered the theft when she went to pay for the cards.

With her husband drawing his first pay since March 3, because of illness, Mrs. Snyder said she had paid two bills before entering the store.

Mrs. Loos reported virtually the same thing happened to her but the pickpocket apparently had to make two attempts before getting her change purse.

She said she went to purchase a card when a woman brushed against her. After paying for the card, Mrs. Loos said she walked around the counter to buy some handkerchiefs when brushed again.

Her purse was open but Mrs. Loos said she thought it had opened accidentally. When she went to pay for her second purchase,

$25¼ Million Whacked Off State Budget

House Finance Unit Follows Philosophy Of 'Hold-The-Line'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House Finance Committee has whacked nearly $25¼ million out of the 1961-63 state budget—a little here and a little there—in apparent dedication to a hold-the-line philosophy.

The House committee is by no means finished with the big money bill. It will hear objections and vote on proposed amendments tonight. The final action of referring the bill to the House floor and the entire membership may be delayed until Wednesday.

DiSalle asked for $2,068,000,000 to run the state for the next two years. The present figure in the House committee stands at about $2,043,000,000.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, has promised that the Senate will cut what he calls the fat from the Democratic governor's request. Informed of the status of budget slashing in the House, Mechem commented informally:

"We ought to be able to do $10 to $15 million better than that."

There is no increase in the budget for schools above the estimated $32,200,000 required by law for school enrollment increases in the next two years.

Said Rep. George A. Meinhart, R-Meigs, chairman of the education subcommittee: "Our recommendation makes no allowances for increases in teacher salaries. It is just to run the show as it is at the present time."

Almost echoing Meinhart's words, Rep. Kenneth L. Beckwith, R-Morgan, said of the public welfare recommendation: "We are suggesting that we carry on at the present level. We have included provision for a 40-hour week for guards in our institutions, but we are suggesting a $17 million cut in welfare funds and $7 million in mental hygiene and correction from the governor's suggested budget. These cuts will bring appropriations in line with those of the present biennium."

The legislature's 19th work week started with a somewhat longer than usual session for members of the House. They were sailing along smoothly, having gone through eight straight roll calls without a dissenting vote, when up came a bill authorizing group term insurance for associations composed of state militia members. It particularly concerned the Ohio National Guard Association.

IN WAKE OF STORM. Extent of the widespread damage in Monday's severe storm is shown in these scenes after the heavy winds and rain subsided. This patio section of the home of George A. Maistros, 1232 St. Clair Ave., landed in a tree in their yard and other parts were strewn through the neighborhood. In other view, the roof of a concrete block service station garage in Fairview, Ohio Township, was blown off and carried some 500 feet.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week. The White House said Monday the next news conference may be held either May 18 or May 19.

E. S. Preston Accepts Bid

State's Highway Director Due At Chamber Dinner

State Highway Director Everett S. Preston has accepted an invitation to speak at the spring membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the Country Club.

Preston's address on area highway improvements will follow a 6:30 dinner. He will be accompanied by other officials of the Columbus office, as well as William McKenna, head of the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, and members of his staff.

Special guests at the dinner will be members of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association, which will hold its annual business meeting at the Country Club shortly before the Chamber affair.

Comprised of representatives from Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula Counties, the association will elect four members to its Board of Directors, then the board will reorganize and name its officers for the following year.

Preston has advised Atty. Francis H. Lang, chairman of the Chamber highway committee and president of the lake-river association, that he will attend the local meeting unless detained by last-minute business relating to highway matters before the State Legislature.

Although he will discuss highway matters in general, Preston is expected to touch upon the present construction of the West End - California Hollow Freeway, which will form the southern terminal of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway.

He also may discuss the possibility that the Highway Department will open bids before the end of the year for the second southern segment of the lake-river road, stretching from the city limits to Substation.

Preston's talk also may relate to other work underway to the north on the lake - river road and projects downriver on Route 7.

McKenna will be accompanied by William A. Miller, in charge of Division 11 construction; Robert J. Jenkins, deputy for plans and programs; Robert M. Short, in charge of right-of-way, and Richard Robinson.

The Chamber's program will be in charge of Atty. Lang's committee.

The Lake - River Association's business meeting will be at 5 p.m.

The present officers, in addition to Atty. Lang, are: Paul Mossman, manager of the Youngstown Area Chamber, vice president; A. C. Patterson, manager of the Ashtabula Chamber, secretary, and Harold J. Mills, manager of the Warren Chamber, treasurer. The same four men also hold the expiring terms on the board.

Rebels Spurn Truce Unit At Laos Parley

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Rebel officials refused to deal with members of the International Control Commission for Laos at an initial meeting at Hin Heup today, a Laotian military authority said. This further confused the outlook for the 14-nation conference on Laos due to open in Geneva Friday.

"The other side (the rebels) said they could not recognize the ICC," said Lt. Col. Udon Sananikone, spokesman of the royal government's military delegation to the cease-fire talks. "They said they had no instructions."

Indian, Canadian and Polish military officers of the three-nation commission, which is seeking to certify the cease-fire proclaimed last Wednesday, declined comment on their return by helicopter from Hin Heup, the negotiating site 55 miles north of Vientiane. They said they would make their report to the commission's Indian chairman, Samar Sen.

The possibility that the Geneva conference might be postponed was raised by rebel objections to the arrival of the truce commission Monday. The United States, Britain and France have said they will not take part in the conference until the commission guarantees the armistice is in effect.

Sananikone said representatives of the Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma even refused a letter from the ICC group in Vientiane to its ICC counterpart in rebel-held Xieng Khouang.

2 Waitresses Fined In Liquor Violations

Two waitresses of the Cactus Bar on State Route 30 back of Chester were fined a total of $300 and costs at hearings Monday before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

The charges were filed by Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny after a raid on the tavern last Thursday.

Louise Roche, 27, and Ann Wallace, 25, of Hookstown were fined on charges of possession of alcoholic liquor, sale of alcoholic liquor and sale of beer without a license.

3 Big Steamers Sunk In Pakistan Cyclone

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—A cyclone struck the East Pakistan coastal district early today and an official report here said "three big steamers were sunk and two ships were in danger" at Khulna.

The cyclone was the third major weather disaster reported in seven months on the East Pakistan coast of the Bay of Bengal.

Nearly 14,000 persons were killed or swept out to sea during a series of hurricanes last October. At least 180 persons perished in a tornado in March.

Building Foundation Falls, None Injured

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Foundation work for a $13.5-million bank building on Wilshire Boulevard collapsed with a roar Monday night.

The scaffolding and concrete work collapsed into an excavation that was to be used as an underground parking lot for 1,000 cars.

Residents for blocks around were aroused by the thunderous vibrations from the collapse. But no one was injured.

Ruling Slated Friday On Nott's Suspension

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver said today he expects to consult with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and then issue a ruling Friday in the case of Patrolman W. E. Nott, who was suspended May 2 by Chief Americo J. Radeschi on the grounds of "inefficiency."

The director talked with the suspended officer again this morning, but told him he has deferred a ruling until consulting with the solicitor. The chief told Nott in a letter the "inefficiency" stemmed from the fact he missed 315 days' work in 52 months.

The chief's order did not set the length of the suspension. That will be the director's prerogative if he upholds the chief's action.

Business Building Damaged; Race Stables Destroyed

A severe thunder storm with heavy winds and rain lashed the tri-state district early Monday night, inflicting considerable damage and injuring at least four persons.

East End Run Stays 'Inside' First Time

For the first time in several years, the heavy rain did not cause a flood in the East End Run at Virginia Ave., Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin reported.

The department's employes started work last week on removal of debris and collapsed buildings alongside the property of M. F. Staats of Virginia Ave., which had been blamed for repeated floods. Laughlin said the channel had been opened to the point the storm water ran off without an overflow.

Damage was estimated conservatively at $100,000, including $20,000 at Waterford Park Race Track. The loss was estimated at $6,000 to a downtown building.

The storm, apparently the fringe of near cyclonic winds that struck at several places in counties west of Columbiana, hit about 7 last night.

A number of communities in Columbiana County suffered damage, including the Guilford Lake area, Columbiana and Leetonia, Salem, East Palestine and East Fairfield. Western Beaver County areas also were hit.

A number of structures were blown down or unroofed in rural areas around East Liverpool, a downtown business building was damaged, phone and power lines were cut and signs and television antennas were wrecked.

Damage may reach $5,000 or $6,000 to the Brookes Building on Market St. where a four-foot high parapet wall, limestone coping and a heavy wood cornice was blown loose from the building at the height of the storm.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House Finance Committee has whacked nearly $25¼ million out of the 1961-63 state budget—a little here and a little there—in apparent dedication to a hold-the-line philosophy.

The House committee is by no means finished with the big money bill. It will hear objections and vote on proposed amendments tonight. The final action of referring the bill to the House floor and the entire membership may be delayed until Wednesday.

DiSalle asked for $2,068,000,000 to run the state for the next two years. The present figure in the House committee stands at about $2,043,000,000.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, has promised that the Senate will cut what he calls the fat from the Democratic governor's request. Informed of the status of budget slashing in the House, Mechem commented informally:

"We ought to be able to do $10 to $15 million better than that."

There is no increase in the budget for schools above the estimated $32,200,000 required by law for school enrollment increases in the next two years.

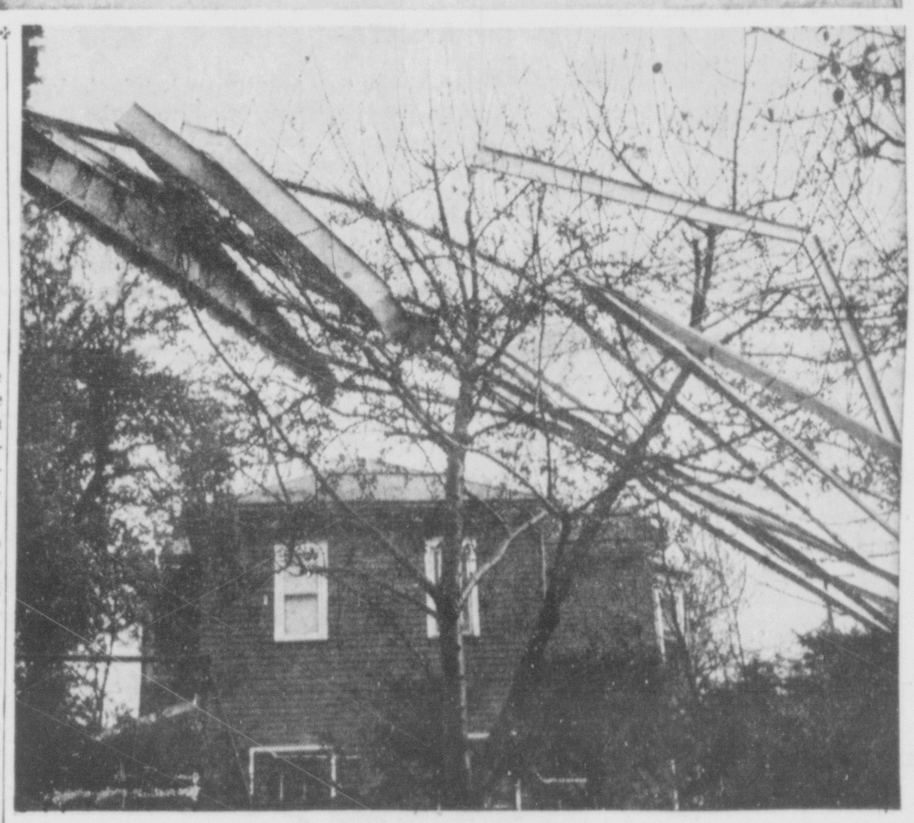
Said Rep. George A. Meinhart, R-Meigs, chairman of the education subcommittee: "Our recommendation makes no allowances for increases in teacher salaries. It is just to run the show as it is at the present time."

Almost echoing Meinhart's words, Rep. Kenneth L. Beckwith, R-Morgan, said of the public welfare recommendation: "We are suggesting that we carry on at the present level. We have included provision for a 40-hour week for guards in our institutions, but we are suggesting a $17 million cut in welfare funds and $7 million in mental hygiene and correction from the governor's suggested budget. These cuts will bring appropriations in line with those of the present biennium."

The legislature's 19th work week started with a somewhat longer than usual session for members of the House. They were sailing along smoothly, having gone through eight straight roll calls without a dissenting vote, when up came a bill authorizing group term insurance for associations composed of state militia members. It particularly concerned the Ohio National Guard Association.

Drops News Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week. The White House said Monday the next news conference may be held either May 18 or May 19.



IN WAKE OF STORM. Extent of the widespread damage in Monday's severe storm is shown in these scenes after the heavy winds and rain subsided. This patio section of the home of George A. Maistros, 1232 St. Clair Ave., landed in a tree in their yard and other parts were strewn through the neighborhood. In other view, the roof of a concrete block service station garage in Fairview, Ohio Township, was blown off and carried some 500 feet.

E. S. Preston Accepts Bid

State's Highway Director Due At Chamber Dinner

State Highway Director Everett S. Preston has accepted an invitation to speak at the spring membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the Country Club.

Preston's address on area highway improvements will follow a 6:30 dinner. He will be accompanied by other officials of the Columbus office, as well as William McKenna, head of the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, and members of his staff.

Special guests at the dinner will be members of the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway Association, which will hold its annual business meeting at the Country Club shortly before the Chamber affair.

Comprised of representatives from Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula Counties, the association will elect four members to its Board of Directors, then the board will reorganize and name its officers for the following year.

Preston has advised Atty. Francis H. Lang, chairman of the Chamber highway committee and president of the lake-river association, that he will attend the local meeting unless detained by last-minute business relating to highway matters before the State Legislature.

Although he will discuss highway matters in general, Preston is expected to touch upon the present construction of the West End - California Hollow Freeway, which will form the southern terminal of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway.

He also may discuss the possibility that the Highway Department will open bids before the end of the year for the second southern segment of the lake-river road, stretching from the city limits to Substation.

Preston's talk also may relate to other work underway to the north on the lake - river road and projects downriver on Route 7.

McKenna will be accompanied by William A. Miller, in charge of Division 11 construction; Robert J. Jenkins, deputy for plans and programs; Robert M. Short, in charge of right-of-way, and Richard Robinson.

The Chamber's program will be in charge of Atty. Lang's committee.

The Lake - River Association's business meeting will be at 5 p.m.

The present officers, in addition to Atty. Lang, are: Paul Mossman, manager of the Youngstown Area Chamber, vice president; A. C. Patterson, manager of the Ashtabula Chamber, secretary, and Harold J. Mills, manager of the Warren Chamber, treasurer. The same four men also hold the expiring terms on the board.

Rebels Spurn Truce Unit At Laos Parley

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Rebel officials refused to deal with members of the International Control Commission for Laos at an initial meeting at Hin Heup today, a Laotian military authority said. This further confused the outlook for the 14-nation conference on Laos due to open in Geneva Friday.

"The other side (the rebels) said they could not recognize the ICC," said Lt. Col. Udon Sananikone, spokesman of the royal government's military delegation to the cease-fire talks. "They said they had no instructions."

Indian, Canadian and Polish military officers of the three-nation commission, which is seeking to certify the cease-fire proclaimed last Wednesday, declined comment on their return by helicopter from Hin Heup, the negotiating site 55 miles north of Vientiane. They said they would make their report to the commission's Indian chairman, Samar Sen.

The possibility that the Geneva conference might be postponed was raised by rebel objections to the arrival of the truce commission Monday. The United States, Britain and France have said they will not take part in the conference until the commission guarantees the armistice is in effect.

Sananikone said representatives of the Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma even refused a letter from the ICC group in Vientiane to its ICC counterpart in rebel-held Xieng Khouang.

Ruling Slated Friday On Nott's Suspension

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver said today he expects to consult with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper and then issue a ruling Friday in the case of Patrolman W. E. Nott, who was suspended May 2 by Chief Americo J. Radeschi on the grounds of "inefficiency."

The director talked with the suspended officer again this morning, but told him he has deferred a ruling until consulting with the solicitor. The chief told Nott in a letter the "inefficiency" stemmed from the fact he missed 315 days' work in 52 months.

The chief's order did not set the length of the suspension. That will be the director's prerogative if he upholds the chief's action.

Nazis Abuse Of Children Bared At Eichmann Trial

JERUSALEM (AP)—A French scientist who survived the Auschwitz death mill told the court trying Adolf Eichmann today how the Nazis degraded tiny Jewish children in France before shipping them to the gas chambers.

Prof. Georges Wellers, director of the French National Medical Research Laboratory and a professor at the Sorbonne, mesmerized the court and audience with his account.

Wellers did not mention Eichmann's name, but the Israeli prosecution preceded the testimony with documents showing Eichmann's Berlin office organized the French camps as part of "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

As a medical man, Wellers could move about the Drancy camp in France. He said he saw 4,000 children—many as young as 2, 3, and 4 years old and their parents already at Auschwitz—abused and then deported to join their families only in death.

Wellers himself was shipped to Auschwitz on June 30, 1944. Six months later he was evacuated to Buchenwald because of the advance of the Soviet armies, and American troops liberated him there.

The witness said none of the adults at that time knew exactly what was happening to those deported—to Auschwitz — but from the treatment of the children they all were certain the Jews of all ages were doomed.

Wellers said the deportations from France reached a peak in the summer of 1942, when the children were brought to Drancy and then shipped out. He added that altogether he saw between 40,000 and 50,000 Jews deported.

Alert To Censorship

This week in Washington some of the cool heads of the newspaper industry will talk with President Kennedy about his recent suggestions for voluntary press censorship in the cold war.

The purpose is to make the President spell out what he has in mind so the newspaper industry can know where it stands and relay this information to its readers.

There is more to this meeting than meets the casual eye and ear, because Mr. Kennedy so far has confined his suggestions about voluntary censorship to newspapers and has not mentioned magazines, radio and television.

Obviously, every agency of communication would have to subscribe to a code of censorship, whether the agency happened to be a newspaper, or a television station. And because every agency of communication either is or claims to be protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution, which forbids legislation concerning the press, the most voluntary kind of censorship imaginable would entail a surrender of the doctrine that competition is the public's guarantee of information.

What always happens in these situations is that all agencies of communication are conceded to be free but some agencies end up by being freer than others — like the crack about all men being equal but some being more equal.

This is what the newspaper industry must be alert to, because it is the broadest target for political abuse.

Any hint from the White House of dissatisfaction with a code of news reporting that makes fair game of all secrets, even government secrets, rings an alarm. The direct provocation for President Kennedy's remarks, first made at the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York May 27, was coverage given by elements of the press to preparations for invasion of Cuba.

This coverage tipped off readers to everything that was in the works, except the date of the invasion. It enabled Castro and his Russian sponsors to create an international opinion against the invaders. Whether it may have added to the failure of the invasion, itself, is uncertain.

But there couldn't be a better example of the futility of any kind of censorship. Relatively few Americans were made aware that their government through the Central Intelligence Agency was backing a Cuban invasion. Most of them were shocked when they heard about it for the first time after the invasion failed.

But everyone in Castro's government knew about it. The Kremlin knew about it. Peiping knew about it. Cubans knew about it.

This is the irony of voluntary censorship as tried in the United States, notably during World War II. Newspapers agree to keep sensitive information from the knowledge of their readers, but while they are doing this everybody and his brother and their sisters, cousins and aunts know about it anyway. And the enemy knows more about it than anyone else.

Could Batista Have Been Right?

Contrary to a popular notion, the crises that bewilder Americans and make their governments look inept do not spring into existence overnight.

They come to attention overnight, have their brief hours in the spotlight of public attention, then pass from view but not out of existence.

It is interesting to recall that Fulgencio Batista warned the United States in the Fall of 1957 that Communists were fomenting unrest in Cuba. Because Batista had become ruthless in the exercise of his power, he had worn out patience with his regime. He seemed to be calling names to hide his own faults.

But in the heat of the 1960 presidential campaign, after Candidate Kennedy had all but accused Candidate Nixon of being an appeaser of Batista, Arthur Gardner, U.S. ambassador to Cuba from 1953 to 1957, made an unusual, if little noted, statement.

He said Vice President Nixon had been the "only man who has ever been helpful to me. . . that the vice president "showed a real understanding of the situation in Cuba and was a major factor in getting things done that needed to be done."

One thing was not done, Gardner explained. The State Department was not persuaded to keep Batista in control until after the 1958 elections, in which he was ineligible to succeed himself. He had promised, moreover, that he would not try to succeed himself.

Gardner explained this would have made possible an orderly transition of power from Batista to an elected successor and kept Fidel Castro, a Communist, from presenting himself to the Cubans as their liberator, which he did at the end of 1958 when Batista fled the country.

By the fall of 1960 there was no doubt than Castro was what Candidate Nixon had thought he was from the start—a Communist. But a twist in positions caused Mr. Kennedy to be blaming Mr. Nixon during the campaign for not being belligerent enough about this, while Mr. Nixon and his friends were warning Mr. Kennedy and his friends that if the United States went into Cuba on any basis other than as a member of the Organizatiins of American States, they would precipitate a disaster in international relations in this hemisphere.

Perhaps the next time the United States is warned that people trying to overthrow a government are Communists—not homegrown revolutionists or "agrarian reformers," as they were called in China—it will listen.

Not Quite A Private Citizen

Richard M. Nixon's return to the speaking platform last week put him in an awkward role, as he himself pointed out. He is not a candidate, a party leader or a representative of the former administration. "I shall speak as a private citizen," he declared.

But that isn't a credible role for the former vice president, either. The truth is he is some small part of a candidate, a considerable part of a party leader and also, unavoidably, a representative of the administration in which he grew to presidential stature. How could he be anything else?

The trouble in finding a role is no fault of Mr. Nixon's. It is an awkward omission in the country's political organization and tradition. The political opposition in the United States had no official leader. The two-party system becomes virtually a one-party system between presidential elections, as far as leadership and representation are concerned.

Mr. Nixon, trying to fill this gap, must be careful to avoid giving offense to other voices and viewpoints in his own party. Adlai Stevenson had the same problem in the Democratic party after the unsuccessful campaigns of 1952 and 1956. Thomas Dewey had it after his efforts to win the presidency in 1944 and 1948. It's a chronic weakness of U.S. politics. There is no field position for the leader of the opposition.

As to the content of the Nixon remarks, they are not startling in themselves and obviously are not intended to be. Their importance lies in what they signify — that the former vice president who came within a few thousand votes of succeeding Dwight Eisenhower intends to lead the loyal opposition — not necessarily as the principal leader, certainly not as the only leader, but as a leader-spokesman for non-Kennedvites. They intend to keep the two-party tradition intact and dynamic during another of those intervals in U.S. history when there is a great hue and holler for unity because the hue-ers and hollerers can think of nothing else to do to cover up the fact they are in danger of losing their way and don't want anybody to know it.

We went to the seed store and asked the clerk for a bag of Souvanna Phouma and some of that new Kasavubu crabgrass killer. He was all mixed up, too, since he had been reading the newspapers and replied, "We're out of those but we can let you have a sack of Boun Oum and a few pounds of Pathat Lao."

"What's the best stuff for conditioning soil for a rose garden, Quadros or Udall?" we asked.

"I like Angola" the clerk replied, "but a lot of people are asking for Laotian."

"How about Killian?" we asked. "Well, it's Massachusetts Tech stuff," he replied, "and should be pretty good. How is your soil?"

We told him it could use a more powerful booster, possibly the nuclear type.

"Is it too early to plant nasturtiums, Cambodias, Titans, Pentagons and early flowering Ghanas?" we inquired.

"No, not from what the Senate subcommittees are bringing out, and it's a good time to get started with June Viet Nams, Lord Parkers and Early Blooming Bourguibas."

"The weather has been bad, especially in Algeria," we said. "Those four French generals were troublesome, too," was the reply. We decided to postpone things, except for some bone-meal, the Kefauver testimony, a new rake, a summary of the CIA inquiry, a wheelbarrow and the latest denunciation from Moscow. (Maybe we should drop the whole question of spring planting as nonnegotiable.)

Man-Made Delays Held Up Space Flight

By Victor Riesel

The inside story of why Commander Shepard was not the first man in space involves preposterous demands by local unions—and an Air Force surrender.

Victor Riesel

Shiny but apparently supine Air Force brass entrusted with some of the man-in-space Mercury capsule production were bullied by a strike-happy union at Cape Canaveral. The Air Force turned tail. And one of its spokesmen told a capsule contractor—whose job it was to prepare communications systems between Commander Shepard and the ground—that the firm would not be "welcome" at the Cape if the manufacturer did not play ball with the union.

All the union wanted of the firm, the Bendix Radio Division of Towson, Md., was:

1. That cables already produced be destroyed and new ones be made up at the base by the local union men.

2. That tests already made of the communication and tracking system at the home factory be retested again at the Cape.

3. That work which could be done on sensitive wiring connections five times as swiftly in Towson be done at Canaveral.

THIS DOUBLED the cost and increased the time needed for many Project Mercury operations, but E. W. Kiffmeyer, industrial relations chief at Patrick Air Force Base, surrendered to these demands and more, according to sworn testimony before the new McClellan committee.

It was after such testimony that McClellan angrily announced that we'd have been up there before the Russians, if not for union-made delays. When I asked the ever-crusading senator just how much all this had cost the United States, his scorn matched his bitterness:

"No calculating machine," said the senator, "yet invented can ever figure the cost. Disrupted work backs up the line all the way to the source of supply.

"The days lost down there are just a slight beginning of the cost involved. It's a chain reaction and it is impossible to know the cost in millions and international prestige as all this backs up into factories and suppliers and raw materials.

After the Bendix people were forced by the Air Force to knuckle down to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers local, the cost on some items, the corporation figures, was fully 100 per cent higher.

This enforced surrender to the regional labor chief, Brother Palmer, provoked the Bendix firm into putting its anger into an official letter.

THE LETTER said, in effect, it was one hell of a way to buy labor peace.

"Dear Mr. Kiffmeyer," the letter said on May 20, 1960, "The Bendix Radio Division (of) Bendix Aviation Corp. is fully aware of the fact that Project Mercury is another important effort on the part of the U.S. government to preserve and enrich our democracy. We are proud to be a part of that effort. We recognize the need for labor peace at Cape Canaveral and we have a sincere desire to cooperate with you in your efforts to have good labor relations at the Cape Canaveral Base.

"But if labor peace at Cape Canaveral can be achieved only by sacrificing the rights which we and our employes (also unionized) have under the U.S. laws, it seems that we are losing the benefits of the same democracy that Project Mercury is intended to help preserve.

"For example, some trade unions are claiming the sole and exclusive right to perform any work at the Cape Canaveral base. . . ."

This claim is being made by building and construction unions "down below." But, as the letter points out, the Bendix contract was for "the purpose of tracking and communicating with space vehicles."

Such equipment is in no way associated with the construction or even the operation of a building there.

The Bendix material and systems are simply inside the apparatus as a telephone and its wires are inside a skyscraper.

But the unon insisted that its local people handle the wiring, though it could be done more efficiently and therefore more cheaply at the home factory.

SO THE COMPANY, facing a united front of the Air Force and the local labor leadership, agreed to make it possible for the Florida union to unload, place and anchor the equipment in the "positions specified."

There is more. But no sense in describing the technical operations.

Suffice to report that after agreeing to all this, the company received a call from the Air Force. The union wanted more.

Now it also wanted the right to string the wires between the control consoles. And would the company rush a man down. The union was set to strike the next day if it didn't get what it wanted.

The company dispatched its official, A. H. Bode, director of industrial relations.

He met the Air Force official. They asked the union leader to come in. There were new concessions. The labor leader deigned to initial a letter of agreement.

Then at last it was possible to rig up the communications system over which Commander Shepard finally sang out, "What a beautiful view!"

A Major Dilemma

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the major dilemmas of the Kennedy administration is not lack of military power, which it has to enormous degree, but how to use what it has to stiff-arm the advance of communism.

It can't in any situation use that power without risking war. In some places it doesn't want to take the risk—as in Laos; in others it appears willing to—as in West Berlin.

Where it is unwilling to take the risk it needs programs to win the allegiance of people who will otherwise buy communism if it seems to fit their needs.

Just because Americans despise communism, it doesn't follow that backward peoples also despite it if it offers more than they have now or can look forward to. In short, in some places ideas are better than tanks.

The administration says it is determined to defend West Berlin if the Russians try to shut it off. But it has to. The city is both the gateway to Western Europe and a symbol of Western unity.

This could mean war. But unless Berlin is defended, the Western alliance probably will fall apart. If so, the individual European nations will have to make their separate peace with Russia and this country will be left alone and isolated.

But the Kennedy administration has shown none of this determination in moving into Laos against the Red-led Pathet Lao guerrillas who have taken over two-thirds of the country while the United States gnawed its nails and waited for a cease-fire.

The eventual loss of all Laos to communism seems inevitable. But Laos, in an inside pocket of Asia, is a bad place for the United States to get involved militarily. There was no support for such a move in this country.

But the next, and much more important effort of communism, is in South Viet Nam. Again the United States may face the choice of intervening or seeing all Viet Nam go down the Communist drain. If it does, all Southeast Asia is open to Red pressure.

The administration talks of training guerrilla fighters and sending them into backward countries to train natives in that kind of warfare against potential Red guerrillas.

But the basic question remains: Are the backward people anywhere going to show any interest in fighting Communists if they offer promises and programs which seem better and more immediate than anything the local government backed by this country proposes?

Last Sunday in the Washington Post reporter Warren Unna, after a trip to Southeast Asia, wrote of the war in Laos where this country backs a right-wing government and Russia backs the Pathet Lao guerrillas.

"By general acknowledgment of both American and British officials on the spot, the Pathet Lao is capable of winning any nationwide election hands down," Unna wrote.

Unna didn't say why the Laotians prefer the Pathet Lao to the American-backed right-wing government. But a guess can be made: the Pathet Lao has a program that makes more sense to the Laotians.

The story of Laos is likely to be repeated again and again in Southeast Asia and elsewhere unless this country can push the government it backs into doing more for the people than the Communists promise.

End Justifies Means?

By David Lawrence

Point Raised In Virginia School Case

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va.,—one of the ablest and most respected men in Congress—has just made a speech in the Senate severely criticizing the Department of Justice for attempting to coerce the Legislature of the State of Virginia by trying to tell its members how they must vote and what money they must appropriate if they are not to incur the wrath of the federal government. No such power can be found written in the federal Constitution by implication or otherwise. Sen. Byrd says:

David Lawrence

"It is even more offensive for a non-elected federal officer, without the benefit of law, through a federal court, to tell a state under what conditions it cannot spend its own money for the public education of its own children.

"Such a decree would be unprecedented in American history. It would do violence to millions of school children. It would do violence to the rights of 50 states and the localities within them. And it would do violence to the foundations on which our system of government is built.

"I am amazed that the attorney general of the United States seeks to close every public school in Virginia to 847,000 white and Negro students unless the little Prince Edward County surrenders its position on a principle it believes to be right.

"The federal proposal to withhold state funds legally appropriated by the General Assembly of Virginia for public school operation necessarily would close public schools all through the state.

"The attempt to punish an entire state because the action of one county displeases the U.S. attorney general is fantastic and completely unrealistic, and, I believe, unconstitutional."

The real issue is not whether racial discrimination shall or shall not be practiced in the public schools. It is whether the state may make tuition grants to all parents, irrespective of race, creed or color, so that they may send their children to private schools if they wish.

AT PRESENT, these private schools, under Virginia laws, may be integrated or non-integrated as the private schools themselves may determine.

The state funds now being made available to parents give the individuals freedom of choice just as the Congress of the United States did when it appropriated money for GIs to get an education, and many thousands of them have used their tuition money in private or parochial as well as public educational institutions.

But the U.S. Department of Justice now is claiming that a federal court decree on school integration is being violated unless the State of Virginia closes all its public schools in every county or somehow coerces a single county to reopen its public schools.

To accomplish this end, the petition to the federal court requests that the parents in the county in question be denied tuition grants by the state government.

This action is not based on any court decision or other precedent. Merely to claim that present decrees on desegregation issued by the federal courts are being violated is not to establish a case under the Constitution.

Indeed, the federal judiciary may in due time throw this case out but it is being said that injustice is being done to the parents of the Negro children, and hence "the end justifies the means."

State after state admitted to the Union in the last century has been given a written guarantee by Congress that education would remain in the "exclusive control" of the states.

Why, then, is Virginia being coerced?

The answer is politics. It is considered good politics to win votes in those populous states of the North which gave the decisive majority to President Kennedy in 1960 and could conceivably do so again in 1964.

THE ARGUMENT is being made that the Department of Justice must seek court decrees and let the courts decide what is constitutional. But it is to be noted that, when the parochial school issue came up a few weeks ago, President Kennedy said it would be unconstitutional to permit Congress to vote funds for parochial schools.

He wouldn't even favor passage of the bill and let the courts decide that one. In fact, his Department of Health, Education and Welfare set forth a lengthy brief declaring any such aid unconstitutional.

So it's good politics to avoid a constitional test in one case and good politics to solicit such a test in another. The truth is the aphrism that "the end justifies the means" is given sanction today in high places in our own Republic, just as it is in a totalitarian government abroad.

Nearly a hundred years ago federal troops sat in State Legislatures in the South—three years after the civil war—and compelled them to "ratify" the 14th amendment. Yet this is the very amendment which is the alleged basis today for demanding that the Virginia State Legislature abide by a decree of the federal government or be compelled to deprive all its children of a public school education. In those days, too, it was asserted that "the end justifies the means."

Letters To The Editor

I have been reading letters in the paper about how councilmen are spending our money to build parking lots, when they should be spending the money for other purposes.

I think it's about time somebody spoke up to compliment the councilmen for what they are doing. The way I read it, they are not spending tax money or our money, which is my money, to build parking lots. I think the council should borrow the $45,000 to build the parking lot on 4th St. because the money will be paid back by the people who use the parking lot, and it won't come through increased taxes on my property.

I am sick and tired of driving downtown to go shopping and not being able to find a place to park.

I am also sick and tired of driving around the block three or four times waiting for a place to park. It will be a happy day for me whenever the parking lot on 4th St. is ready to be used. And I certainly hope that new councilmen in the future will continue to borrow money to build additional parking lots. I for one will be happy to put my money in the parking meter to pay for these lots. For those of you who do not drive automobiles and who do not park down town, these parking lots will not cost you one cent.

I for one am very proud of the councilmen who have voted for this needed improvement and I certainly hope that at the next council meeting the vote will be unanimous in favor of building the parking lot.

Man-Made Delays Held Up Space Flight

By Victor Riesel

The inside story of why Commander Shepard was not the first man in space involves preposterous demands by local unions—and an Air Force surrender.

Victor Riesel

Shiny but apparently supine Air Force brass entrusted with some of the man-in-space Mercury capsule production were bullied by a strike-happy union at Cape Canaveral. The Air Force turned tail. And one of its spokesmen told a capsule contractor—whose job it was to prepare communications systems between Commander Shepard and the ground—that the firm would not be "welcome" at the Cape if the manufacturer did not play ball with the union.

All the union wanted of the firm, the Bendix Radio Division of Towson, Md., was:

1. That cables already produced be destroyed and new ones be made up at the base by the local union men.
2. That tests already made of the communication and tracking system at the home factory be retested again at the Cape.
3. That work which could be done on sensitive wiring connections five times as swiftly in Towson be done at Canaveral.

THIS DOUBLED the cost and increased the time needed for many Project Mercury operations, but E. W. Kiffmeyer, industrial relations chief at Patrick Air Force Base, surrendered to these demands and more, according to sworn testimony before the new McClellan committee.

It was after such testimony that McClellan angrily announced that we'd have been up there before the Russians, if not for union-made delays. When I asked the ever-crusading senator just how much all this had cost the United States, his scorn matched his bitterness:

"No calculating machine," said the senator, "yet invented can ever figure the cost. Disrupted work backs up the line all the way to the source of supply.

"The days lost down there are just a slight beginning of the cost involved. It's a chain reaction and it is impossible to know the cost in millions and international prestige as all this backs up into factories and suppliers and raw materials.

After the Bendix people were forced by the Air Force to knuckle down to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers local, the cost on some items, the corporation figures, was fully 100 per cent higher.

This enforced surrender to the regional labor chief, Brother Palmer, provoked the Bendix firm into putting its anger into an official letter.

THE LETTER said, in effect, it was one hell of a way to buy labor peace.

"Dear Mr. Kiffmeyer," the letter said on May 20, 1960, "The Bendix Radio Division (of) Bendix Aviation Corp. is fully aware of the fact that Project Mercury is another important effort on the part of the U.S. government to preserve and enrich our democracy. We are proud to be a part of that effort. We recognize the need for labor peace at Cape Canaveral and we have a sincere desire to cooperate with you in your efforts to have good labor relations at the Cape Canaveral Base.

"But if labor peace at Cape Canaveral can be achieved only by sacrificing the rights which we and our employes (also unionized) have under the U.S. laws, it seems that we are losing the benefits of the same democracy that Project Mercury is intended to help preserve.

"For example, some trade unions are claiming the sole and exclusive right to perform any work at the Cape Canaveral base. . . ."

This claim is being made by building and construction unions "down below." But, as the letter points out, the Bendix contract was for "the purpose of tracking and communicating with space vehicles."

Such equipment is in no way associated with the construction or even the operation of a building there.

The Bendix material and systems are simply inside the apparatus as a telephone and its wires are inside a skyscraper.

But the unon insisted that its local people handle the wiring, though it could be done more efficiently and therefore more cheaply at the home factory.

SO THE COMPANY, facing a united front of the Air Force and the local labor leadership, agreed to make it possible for the Florida union to unload, place and anchor the equipment in the "positions specified."

There is more. But no sense in describing the technical operations.

Suffice to report that after agreeing to all this, the company received a call from the Air Force. The union wanted more.

Now it also wanted the right to string the wires between the control consoles. And would the company rush a man down. The union was set to strike the next day if it didn't get what it wanted.

The company dispatched its official, A. H. Bode, director of industrial relations.

He met the Air Force official. They asked the union leader to come in. There were new concessions. The labor leader deigned to initial a letter of agreement.

Then at last it was possible to rig up the communications system over which Commander Shepard finally sang out, "What a beautiful view!"

A Major Dilemma

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the major dilemmas of the Kennedy administration is not lack of military power, which it has to enormous degree, but how to use what it has to stiff-arm the advance of communism.

It can't in any situation use that power without risking war. In some places it doesn't want to take the risk—as in Laos; in others it appears willing to—as in West Berlin.

Where it is unwilling to take the risk it needs programs to win the allegiance of people who will otherwise buy communism if it seems to fit their needs.

Just because Americans despise communism, it doesn't follow that backward peoples also despite it if it offers more than they have now or can look forward to. In short, in some places ideas are better than tanks.

The administration says it is determined to defend West Berlin if the Russians try to shut it off. But it has to. The city is both the gateway to Western Europe and a symbol of Western unity.

This could mean war. But unless Berlin is defended, the Western alliance probably will fall apart. If so, the individual European nations will have to make their separate peace with Russia and this country will be left alone and isolated.

But the Kennedy administration has shown none of this determination in moving into Laos against the Red-led Pathet Lao guerrillas who have taken over two-thirds of the country while the United States gnawed its nails and waited for a cease-fire.

The eventual loss of all Laos to communism seems inevitable. But Laos, in an inside pocket of Asia, is a bad place for the United States to get involved militarily. There was no support for such a move in this country.

But the next, and much more important effort of communism, is in South Viet Nam. Again the United States may face the choice of intervening or seeing all Viet Nam go down the Communist drain. If it does, all Southeast Asia is open to Red pressure.

The administration talks of training guerrilla fighters and sending them into backward countries to train natives in that kind of warfare against potential Red guerrillas.

But the basic question remains: Are the backward people anywhere going to show any interest in fighting Communists if they offer promises and programs which seem better and more immediate than anything the local government backed by this country proposes?

Last Sunday in the Washington Post reporter Warren Unna, after a trip to Southeast Asia, wrote of the war in Laos where this country backs a right-wing government and Russia backs the Pathet Lao guerrillas.

"By general acknowledgment of both American and British officials on the spot, the Pathet Lao is capable of winning any nationwide election hands down," Unna wrote.

Unna didn't say why the Laotians prefer the Pathet Lao to the American-backed right-wing government. But a guess can be made: the Pathet Lao has a program that makes more sense to the Laotians.

The story of Laos is likely to be repeated again and again in Southeast Asia and elsewhere unless this country can push the government it backs into doing more for the people than the Communists promise.

End Justifies Means?

By David Lawrence

Point Raised In Virginia School Case

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va.,—one of the ablest and most respected men in Congress—has just made a speech in the Senate severely criticizing the Department of Justice for attempting to coerce the Legislature of the State of Virginia by trying to tell its members how they must vote and what money they must appropriate if they are not to incur the wrath of the federal government. No such power can be found written in the federal Constitution by implication or otherwise. Sen. Byrd says:

David Lawrence

"It is even more offensive for a non-elected federal officer, without the benefit of law, through a federal court, to tell a state under what conditions it cannot spend its own money for the public education of its own children.

"Such a decree would be unprecedented in American history. It would do violence to millions of school children. It would do violence to the rights of 50 states and the localities within them. And it would do violence to the foundations on which our system of government is built.

"I am amazed that the attorney general of the United States seeks to close every public school in Virginia to 847,000 white and Negro students unless the little Prince Edward County surrenders its position on a principle it believes to be right.

"The federal proposal to withhold state funds legally appropriated by the General Assembly of Virginia for public school operation necessarily would close public schools all through the state.

"The attempt to punish an entire state because the action of one county displeases the U.S. attorney general is fantastic and completely unrealistic, and, I believe, unconstitutional."

The real issue is not whether racial discrimination shall or shall not be practiced in the public schools. It is whether the state may make tuition grants to all parents, irrespective of race, creed or color, so that they may send their children to private schools if they wish.

AT PRESENT, these private schools, under Virginia laws, may be integrated or non-integrated as the private schools themselves may determine.

The state funds now being made available to parents give the individuals freedom of choice just as the Congress of the United States did when it appropriated money for GIs to get an education, and many thousands of them have used their tuition money in private or parochial as well as public educational institutions.

But the U.S. Department of Justice now is claiming that a federal court decree on school integration is being violated unless the State of Virginia closes all its public schools in every county or somehow coerces a single county to reopen its public schools.

To accomplish this end, the petition to the federal court requests that the parents in the county in question be denied tuition grants by the state government.

This action is not based on any court decision or other precedent. Merely to claim that present decrees on desegregation issued by the federal courts are being violated is not to establish a case under the Constitution.

Indeed, the federal judiciary may in due time throw this case out but it is being said that injustice is being done to the parents of the Negro children, and hence "the end justifies the means."

State after state admitted to the Union in the last century has been given a written guarantee by Congress that education would remain in the "exclusive control" of the states.

Why, then, is Virginia being coerced?

The answer is politics. It is considered good politics to win votes in those populous states of the North which gave the decisive majority to President Kennedy in 1960 and could conceivably do so again in 1964.

THE ARGUMENT is being made that the Department of Justice must seek court decrees and let the courts decide what is constitutional. But it is to be noted that, when the parochial school issue came up a few weeks ago, President Kennedy said it would be unconstitutional to permit Congress to vote funds for parochial schools.

He wouldn't even favor passage of the bill and let the courts decide that one. In fact, his Department of Health, Education and Welfare set forth a lengthy brief declaring any such aid unconstitutional.

So it's good politics to avoid a constitional test in one case and good politics to solicit such a test in another. The truth is the aphrism that "the end justifies the means" is given sanction today in high places in our own Republic, just as it is in a totalitarian government abroad.

Nearly a hundred years ago federal troops sat in State Legislatures in the South—three years after the civil war—and compelled them to "ratify" the 14th amendment. Yet this is the very amendment which is the alleged basis today for demanding that the Virginia State Legislature abide by a decree of the federal government or be compelled to deprive all its children of a public school education. In those days, too, it was asserted that "the end justifies the means."

Letters To The Editor

I have been reading letters in the paper about how councilmen are spending our money to build parking lots, when they should be spending the money for other purposes.

I think it's about time somebody spoke up to compliment the councilmen for what they are doing. The way I read it, they are not spending tax money or our money, which is my money, to build parking lots. I think the council should borrow the $45,000 to build the parking lot on 4th St. because the money will be paid back by the people who use the parking lot, and it won't come through increased taxes on my property.

I am sick and tired of driving downtown to go shopping and not being able to find a place to park.

I am also sick and tired of driving around the block three or four times waiting for a place to park. It will be a happy day for me whenever the parking lot on 4th St. is ready to be used. And I certainly hope that new councilmen in the future will continue to borrow money to build additional parking lots. I for one will be happy to put my money in the parking meter to pay for these lots. For those of you who do not drive automobiles and who do not park down town, these parking lots will not cost you one cent.

I for one am very proud of the councilmen who have voted for this needed improvement and I certainly hope that at the next council meeting the vote will be unanimous in favor of building the parking lot.

Lisbon Area Annexation Plan Delayed

LISBON—Council Monday night postponed third reading of the ordinance to annex 45 acres north of the village and east of Route 45. The first two readings passed 4-1 but several homeowners outside of the village already in the territory complained and three Council members will meet this evening with the Board of Public Affairs in regards to the cost of extending water service to the new addition, which will be used as an allotment. It will also determine if a standpipe or special pumper will be needed to furnish sufficient water pressure.

Council will then meet again next Monday evening with any persons inside or outside of the village, who may wish to be heard.

Council voted 5-1 to continue the third reading.

Councilman Robert Kelm said Council has no obligation to listen to people outside the village, that "they had their chance to stop the annexation."

Council voted to resubmit the 3-mill levy on the November ballot. It failed in the primary by a slim majority of approximately 17 votes. Council said it needs the $18,000 estimated revenue for village projects, which had been paid by fines in the past several years until the county court system diverted this revenue.

The members of Lisbon High School's Student Voice paper, Linda Neill and Georgia Sexton, requested Council's permission to hold a public dance, just after school dismissed for the term, at the tennis courts near the Sadie VanFossan Memorial Swimming Pool.

They will check neighbors for their permission. Council gave its permission providing there are no complaints from residents of the vicinity.

Kenneth R. Williams, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, asked permission to again hold an auto safety check on E. Lincoln Way in the 300 block June 5, 6, 7, and 9. Council approved. Williams also requested a go slow sign be erected to protect children at play for the north side of Sunset Dr. Mayor Dean Stockman advised Council that he would handle the request.

The Mayor and Council thanked Boy Scout Troop 95 for its work on the Public Square last Saturday.

Mayor Stockman said the water department had installed a pumper fire hydrant on E. Chestnut St. near the McKinley school. He also reported he purchased a dozen chairs for the firemen's room in the Village Hall.

Council reported sidewalks in need of repair.

Next regular meeting will be Monday, May 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Aboriginal Explorers' Club Reviews Trip Near Newark

A discussion of a recent trip to Flint Ridge in Licking County, near Newark, featured the meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club Monday night at the home of Ray Simoni of Smiths Ferry.

Club members spent the day surface collecting plowed fields for arrowheads and other artifacts such as blanks and hammer stones. Harry M. Cline was in charge of the trip.

En route home, the club stopped at Orange to view a small stone fort which has been reconstructed by the Ohio Historical Society.

Each member displayed what he had found on the trip.

Harry R. Cline reported on a news letter being published by the Society for Pennsylvania Archaeology. Richard S. Thompson, secretary, displayed 21 pictures of the Smiths Ferry petroglyphs. They were taken in 1908.

One was of a representation of an Indian papoose which was cut out and carried away in 1908.

Thompson donated a plate to the club. It was made for Wellsville's 155th anniversary celebration in 1950. It will be presented to the member who makes outstanding achievements in locating camps, villages and rock shelters. It will be presented in September.

James Woodrow recorded an archaic site he discovered the past week. It was marked on the topographic map prepared by the club.

Simoni displayed several flint lock rifles and gave a history of them. James Monte reported on hiking along the Ohio River, searching for evidence of Indian sites. He said he discovered such a site near Georgetown.

Harold A. Dawson displayed several pictures of old log cabins near Gavers and Millport. Dawson said he will show more pictures at the next meeting.

The next meeting is May 22 at 7 p. m. with Woodrow of Wellsville R. D. 1. The club plans to visit several area farms this week in search for Indian artifacts.

Kennedy Set For Delay On Rights Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration appears ready to postpone action on major civil rights bills in exchange for a rules revision in this session making it easier to curb Senate filibusters.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today efforts to revise the rule requiring approval of two-thirds of those voting to limit Senate debate will precede action on an administration package of civil rights measures introduced Monday.

Mansfield made it clear that even before the rule change is brought up, he hopes to have most of President Kennedy's general legislative program out of the way.

"Otherwise," he said, "we might have a long, drawn-out struggle in the Senate that might endanger the unfinished aspects of the President's program."

Mansfield left little doubt that any real attempt to enact the six bills offered in the Senate and House by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., will have to wait until 1962.

The Democratic leader said he had no advance knowledge that the bills were going to be introduced by Clark and Celler, designated by Kennedy last fall to draft civil rights proposals for the administration.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview he plans to join with Mansfield in offering a measure to permit 60 per cent of the Senators voting to curb debate.

To get this passed in the face of a likely Southern filibuster, the leaders probably will have to bring in a cloture (debate limiting) petition. To halt a filibuster they would have to get support from two-thirds of those voting—67 if all 100 senators are recorded.

Dirksen said that while some Republicans may push for enactment of civil rights legislation in this session, from a practical standpoint he doubts little will be done except to extend the life of the expiring Civil Rights Commission.

Clark said he will ask for Senate action on some of his bills. But he conceded he isn't very hopeful of getting it.

Women's Group Receives Notice Of State Awards

Mrs. Lawrence Keeper, president, received the certificates and ribbons. A blue ribbon was received for first prize in the District Class A group for the best scrapbook.

An honor award was received for participation in the Junior Score Card, which is given for acknowledgement of the club theme, "There Is a Time For All Things," and the club pledge, "Trying To Accomplish Something — Not Merely To Exist."

An educational certificate was presented for the report submitted on Westgate School.

A "Rosy Ribbon" and certificate were won for the report of the Cerebral Palsy Nursery School which the club operates in the clinic rooms at the Mary Patterson Memorial. This was submitted in conjunction with the community activities achievement and was one of the two selected to be sent on to the GFWC headquarters.

The 70th annual GFWC convention is slated for June 5-9 at Miami Beach, Fla., and the 65th conference of the OFCW will be held May 1-3, 1962, at Cleveland.

Southern Woman Named America Mother Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A Tennessee mother of six, who helped to abolish the whipping post in Georgia and has been foster mother to hundreds of dependent or delinquent children, was named American Mother of 1961 today.

She was cited for rearing her own children—including home tutoring for many years of four who were unable to go to school because of ill health—and for her efforts in improving the housing and treatment of juvenile delinquents, neglected and dependent children, and mentally or emotionally disturbed children, regardless of race or creed.

Her role in the abolition of the whipping post in Georgia grew out of a trip she made to that state on behalf of one of her delinquent young charges.

Her current projects are a residential treatment center for disturbed children, and a home for juveniles returning from vocational training schools.

CC Gets Ohio Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission has received an application to transfer control of radio station WHOP, Bellefontaine, Ohio, from James T. Sandonato and Thomas W. jtalbot to D. L. Rike & Co. Another application to the commission asks an increase in power from one to five kilowatts for station WTTF, Tiffin, Ohio.

Kennedy Set For Delay On Rights Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration appears ready to postpone action on major civil rights bills in exchange for a rules revision in this session making it easier to curb Senate filibusters.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today efforts to revise the rule requiring approval of two-thirds of those voting to limit Senate debate will precede action on an administration package of civil rights measures introduced Monday.

Mansfield made it clear that even before the rule change is brought up, he hopes to have most of President Kennedy's general legislative program out of the way.

"Otherwise," he said, "we might have a long, drawn-out struggle in the Senate that might endanger the unfinished aspects of the President's program."

Mansfield left little doubt that any real attempt to enact the six bills offered in the Senate and House by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., will have to wait until 1962.

The Democratic leader said he had no advance knowledge that the bills were going to be introduced by Clark and Celler, designated by Kennedy last fall to draft civil rights proposals for the administration.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview he plans to join with Mansfield in offering a measure to permit 60 per cent of the Senators voting to curb debate.

To get this passed in the face of a likely Southern filibuster, the leaders probably will have to bring in a cloture (debate limiting) petition. To halt a filibuster they would have to get support from two-thirds of those voting—67 if all 100 senators are recorded.

Dirksen said that while some Republicans may push for enactment of civil rights legislation in this session, from a practical standpoint he doubts little will be done except to extend the life of the expiring Civil Rights Commission.

Clark said he will ask for Senate action on some of his bills. But he conceded he isn't very hopeful of getting it.

URA Okays Grant For Ohio Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration today announced approval of a $22,635 grant to the Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development. The money is to help Madison County and Painesville, West Jefferson and Westview plan their growth and development.

The federal grant, matched by an equal amount in state and local funds, will finance planning work scheduled to be completed in two years.

Dr. Hyde, Ex-State Hospital Head, Dies

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, former superintendent of Massillon State Hospital, died today in Massillon City Hospital. He was 85.

He had served as hospital superintendent for 36 years before retiring in December, 1954, to devote full time to his private practice.

Women's Group Receives Notice Of State Awards

Mrs. Lawrence Keeper, president, received the certificates and ribbons. A blue ribbon was received for first prize in the District Class A group for the best scrapbook.

An honor award was received for participation in the Junior Score Card, which is given for acknowledgement of the club theme, "There Is a Time For All Things," and the club pledge, "Trying To Accomplish Something — Not Merely To Exist."

An educational certificate was presented for the report submitted on Westgate School.

A "Rosy Ribbon" and certificate were won for the report of the Cerebral Palsy Nursery School which the club operates in the clinic rooms at the Mary Patterson Memorial. This was submitted in conjunction with the community activities achievement and was one of the two selected to be sent on to the GFWC headquarters.

The 70th annual GFWC convention is slated for June 5-9 at Miami Beach, Fla., and the 65th conference of the OFCW will be held May 1-3, 1962, at Cleveland.

Southern Woman Named America Mother Of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A Tennessee mother of six, who helped to abolish the whipping post in Georgia and has been foster mother to hundreds of dependent or delinquent children, was named American Mother of 1961 today.

She was cited for rearing her own children—including home tutoring for many years of four who were unable to go to school because of ill health—and for her efforts in improving the housing and treatment of juvenile delinquents, neglected and dependent children, and mentally or emotionally disturbed children, regardless of race or creed.

Her role in the abolition of the whipping post in Georgia grew out of a trip she made to that state on behalf of one of her delinquent young charges.

Her current projects are a residential treatment center for disturbed children, and a home for juveniles returning from vocational training schools.

A similar summer school program is planned in Weirton for students of Weirton and New Cumberland.

Pie meringue: a quarter teaspoon of cream of tartar added to a three-egg-white meringue will help stabilize it. Add the cream of tartar to the egg whites and beat until frothy; then gradually beat in 6 tablespoons sugar, continuing to beat until stiff and glossy. Make sure you leave no gaps between the meringue and the crust when you smooth the egg-white mixture over the top of the filling.

Board Acts On Calendar

Graduation Rites Set At Wellsville

The dates were set for baccalaureate and commencement exercises and the 1961-62 school calendar tentatively adopted by the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night.

Baccalaureate will be Sunday, May 28, at 7:30 p. m. and commencement will be Monday, May 29. The Rev. William G. Carswell of the First Baptist Church will be the speaker for baccalaureate.

Supt. S. E. Daw said the programs for the two services are being prepared and will be announced later.

THE BOARD approved a list of 139 graduating students. Daw remarked the graduating seniors are an "outstanding class." It is one of the largest graduating classes from Wellsville High.

The fall term of school will begin Tuesday, Sept. 5, the day after Labor Day. School will officially close June 8, 1962. The calendar calls for 179 school days.

School also will be closed Friday, Oct. 27, for the East Central Ohio Teachers Association; Thursday and Friday, Nov. 23 and 24 for Thanksgiving; Christmas vacation Dec. 20 to Tuesday, Jan. 2, 1962; Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22; spring vacation, Friday April 20, and April 23-27, and Memorial Day, May 30.

Children entering the first grade next term must be 6 by Sept. 30.

In other business, the board accepted the resignations of two teachers and hired two others.

MRS. WILMA Newman, a fourth grade instructor at Garfield School, and Mrs. Margaret Halliday, a high school commercial instructor, resigned. Mrs. Newman is moving from town and Mrs. Halliday had been working on a temporary certificate.

The board hired Miss Doris Sinclair, a graduate of the commercial department at Kent State University, and Mrs. Mildred McCracken, who has completed her work at West Liberty College.

The board went on record as approving the remainder of the present teacher staff for the coming term. Their contracts will be mailed to them in the near future.

Michael Mato, high school science instructor, was granted a master degree status. He holds an A.B. degree, but has had several hours study during the past five summers in teacher training. He has a total of 180 hours.

Lester Bickle, Fairview principal, was granted a continuing contract. He had a continuing contract, one which is automatically renewed each year, in West Virginia and lacks only a few months of actual instruction in Ohio to come under the plan.

THE BOARD granted a week's service at the close of the term to four principals to close out the year's work. The extended time was given John Mackov of MacDonald, James R. Ferry of Daw Junior High, Miss Margaret H. Frischkorn of Garfield and Bickle of Fairview.

Three bids were opened on a new school bus. The board must formally receive bids and then submit them to the State Department of Education for approval to purchase a new vehicle.

The board plans to purchase a bus before the start of the next term. The bids were for a 1961, 66-passenger vehicle meeting all state specifications. They were $6,744.54, Wells Motor Co.; $6,898.92, Ideal Chevrolet, and $7,300, Wimmer Motor Sales. The board does not have to accept the lowest bids.

EARL BAKE, president, announced a tour of all buildings will be made Saturday to determine what repair work and painting will be done this summer.

George Lawton asked for a salary increase as assistant football coach. He said he receives $150 annually for these duties and does not feel it is enough. Lawton said he would like to resign as assistant coach if he does not get an increase so he can get into the West Virginia - Ohio Officials Association and officiate at football games to earn extra money.

Bake informed Lawton the board would consider the request, pointing out it has been several years since any change has been discussed in coaching salaries. Russell Dysert, board member, said all coaches' salaries will be reviewed with the new contracts.

Bake said he agreed it was not enough for the work. Lawton said he would remain as coach of junior high basketball. He is a health and science instructor.

DAW REVIEWED the need for a psychologist or guidance director in the system. He said they are subsidized by the state. He outlined the present program in the system, pointing out how such a person could be utilized.

A letter was received from Miss Phyllis Zimmerman, director, thanking board members for their donation to the high school choir for new robes. Members of the board donated money from their own salaries.

A letter was received from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, asking the board to participate in a community activities calendar being sponsored as a fund-raising project.

Candlelight Scene At Board Meeting

Showing sheer determination, the Wellsville Board of Education met Monday night despite the fact there were no lights to see by. Candles were used.

The storm knocked out all the power to Wellsville. The board was scheduled to meet at 7:30, but delayed calling the meeting to order as there were no lights.

Finally, it was decided to hold the meeting by candlelight. Raymond S. Rolley, clerk, started reading the minutes of the previous meeting by candlelight at 8 after the meeting was called to order by Earl Bake, president.

The lights in the high school finally came on again at 9:20. Bake remarked there was no sense in calling another meeting so long as the business could be transacted by the dim light of the candles.

I wish to thank the voters of the First Ward for their confidence in me at the polls in the primary election, Tuesday, May 2, 1961.

U.S. To Resume Appeal In Integration Dispute

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The federal government resumes today its plea to be allowed to intervene as co-plaintiff in an effort to have Prince Edward County's integration - closed public schools reopened on a desegregated basis.

St. John Barrett, special assistant to the assistant U.S. attorney general for civil rights, had begun stating his case late Monday when Judge Oren R. Lewis adjourned federal court until today for another round in the legal battle.

During arguments by both the government and counsel for Prince Edward County, one of the parties to the original cases on which the U.S. Supreme Court based its 1954 desegregation decision, Judge Lewis repeatedly indicated he thought questions had been raised requiring state adjudication.

All public schools in Prince Edward County were shut down in 1959 after a federal court ordered them desegregated. Since then the county's white children have been educated in private schools supported by grants of public tuition. Most of the Negro children have gone without formal education.

Barrett said the Justice Department felt it had a right and duty to intervene in court cases when it was a question of implementing and protecting decrees of U.S. courts.

Counsel for the county argued the locality acted legally in abandoning public schools and turning to private schools for white children financed by state and local tuition grants.

J. Segar Gravatt said the same tuition grants are available to the county's Negroes and the same private education is available if the children's parents will accept it.

Lady Bandit Strikes Again

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) —A soft-spoken lady bandit has struck again.

Monday night she took $60 off Paul Gibson, who was watching television with his wife.

Sunday night she took $65 from William Fraim, visitation minister of the First Baptist Church. It represented the evening's collection.

Gibson told police the woman, about 25, came to a side door of his house.

"She said she was out of gas," Gibson said. "Then she calmly said, 'Pardon me sir, this is a holdup.' "

Gibson said he handed over his wallet.

Sunday night 100 persons were attending a reception in the basement when the woman came into the church office and took the money bag containing the $65.

In both cases she was described as calm and polite but displaying a pistol to enforce her demands.

Hancock Due Tax Overlap In New Law

West Virginia will put the "bite" on Hancock County taxpayers twice this year as a result of a recently-enacted law changing the date of the fiscal year for county assessors.

Senate Bill 121, enacted by the 55th session of the State Legislature, changes the fiscal year for assessors from Dec. 31 to July 1.

This requires County Assessor Anthony (Tony) Leon to complete his 1961 assessments by July 1 so that his field deputies can begin work immediately on assessing property for 1962.

County residents will receive personal property tax bills for 1961 this fall and by that time, they will also begin paying their 1962 bills, probably in September.

The new law forces overlapping of the assessor's period in which to compile his figures, but only for this year. In 1962, West Virginia residents will receive only the one tax bill as in the past.

The new law may require adjustments in bookwork and may be a "headache" for county assessors until the new fiscal year begins next July, it has been said.

County commissioners will sit as a Board of Equalization and Review July 5 to hear any complaints of residents on their personal property tax bills for 1961.

County residents will receive their second tax bills early this fall for the first half of the 1962 assessment year, and commissioners will hear any complaints and make necessary adjustments in February .

Leon said the new law requires him to complete his assessment work and certify new evaluations to the various levying bodies no later than March 7.

The tax department of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny will begin collecting taxes for 1962, starting July 15 instead of Sept. 15. In order for residents to receive the usual 2½ per cent discount, the first-half taxes must be paid before Sept. 15, and the second half by March 1 for the discount.

As soon as the assessor's office finishes compiling the 1961 assessments, and turns the books over to the sheriff's office for preparing the tax bills, Leon's staff will begin figuring assessments for 1962, as prescribed in Senate Bill 121.

Leon said one of the advantages of Senate Bill 121 is that it provides an opportunity for his field deputies to complete much of their outdoor work during warm weather months.

As automobile license tags also are purchased July 1 each year, this, too, will enable the assessor's office to maintain a more up-to-date list of motor vehicle owners for tax purposes.

The assessor said he or his staff members will be "glad to accommodate county residents with answers to questions on the new tax legislation" if they will visit the office in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Leon also reported that the tax workers visiting in the county are from the State Tax Department in Charleston who are compiling data for the state's re-evaluation program that was launched in 1957.

Event To Be At Westgate

Party Will Climax Prom Friday

A full night of entertainment, dancing and food has been arranged by the post-prom committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for high school students following the annual Junior - Senior dance Friday night at the Memorial Auditorium.

Robert Brooks, chairman, said the event will be held this year at Westgate School. This will aid greatly in presenting a more rounded program, he said.

The tickets are being sold by members of the Junior Class cabinet. The admission is $3 per couple, which is used to help defray the costs.

Four professional acts will be provided. One will be the Altiers of Pittsburgh, above, a rock 'n roll group. The show will include Sonny Day, a singer, comic and ventriloquist, and Monte Kahril, a mentalist and hypnotist. Another act also will be booked.

Brooks said those attending must be registered at Westgate by 12:30 a.m., following the dance. Jaycees will be on hand to park the cars for those attending.

All will have to sign in, and once they are there, must remain until the close at 6 a.m.

A color movie, "How to Marry a Millionaire," will be screened in the auditorium. It was selected by the students, who also picked the professional acts.

Del Sinchak and his orchestra from Youngstown will provide music for dancing.

The students will be fed in the school cafeteria. A catering service has been contracted to handle this phase. Brooks said snacks and refreshments will be provided all night.

The entertainment will be presented in two phases, one show about 2 a.m. and the other at 4:30.

Brooks said that if any student leaves, the parents will be contacted and the student will not be permitted to return. They will be chaperoned at all times, he said.

The party is held each year in an effort to keep the students off the highways and out of area night clubs. The cost is much less, the students do not have to travel far and they can see the same type acts that appear in area clubs.

Brooks' committee includes Dick Chadwick, in charge of interior arrangements; Carl Pelini, movie, tables and chairs; John Duffy, insurance and the curfew waiver, and Harold Bricker, food.

Ex-Hitler Deputy Linked To Eichmann Capture Site

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Argentina's former ambassador to Israel today said Martin Bormann—Hitler's deputy whose fate has been a mystery since the war—was in Argentina when Adolf Eichmann was captured last year.

Dr. Gregorio Topolevsky, now retired from the Argentine foreign service, said in a Tel Aviv news conference that Bormann had been living under an alias and disappeared into Brazil when he heard of Eichmann's capture by Israeli agents in May 1960.

Topolevsky said that if Israel had requested Eichmann's extradition through official channels, he would have vanished "two hours later." Eichmann was spirited out of the country by Israeli agents.

The former ambassador said Dr. Joseph Mengele, Nazi physician at Auschwitz who selected vast numbers of victims for the gas chamber, was also known by Argentine security services to be in that country.

Mengele also disappeared, Topolevsky said, when he heard authorities were looking for him.

Topolevsky also claimed there were several Nazi cells in Argentina, mainly in the south, and that they had transferred huge sums of money and gold from Switzerland.

Hancock Due Tax Overlap In New Law

West Virginia will put the "bite" on Hancock County taxpayers twice this year as a result of a recently-enacted law changing the date of the fiscal year for county assessors.

Senate Bill 121, enacted by the 55th session of the State Legislature, changes the fiscal year for assessors from Dec. 31 to July 1.

This requires County Assessor Anthony (Tony) Leon to complete his 1961 assessments by July 1 so that his field deputies can begin work immediately on assessing property for 1962.

County residents will receive personal property tax bills for 1961 this fall and by that time, they will also begin paying their 1962 bills, probably in September.

The new law forces overlapping of the assessor's period in which to compile his figures, but only for this year. In 1962, West Virginia residents will receive only the one tax bill as in the past.

The new law may require adjustments in bookwork and may be a "headache" for county assessors until the new fiscal year begins next July, it has been said.

County commissioners will sit as a Board of Equalization and Review July 5 to hear any complaints of residents on their personal property tax bills for 1961.

County residents will receive their second tax bills early this fall for the first half of the 1962 assessment year, and commissioners will hear any complaints and make necessary adjustments in February .

Leon said the new law requires him to complete his assessment work and certify new evaluations to the various levying bodies no later than March 7.

The tax department of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny will begin collecting taxes for 1962, starting July 15 instead of Sept. 15. In order for residents to receive the usual 2½ per cent discount, the first-half taxes must be paid before Sept. 15, and the second half by March 1 for the discount.

As soon as the assessor's office finishes compiling the 1961 assessments, and turns the books over to the sheriff's office for preparing the tax bills, Leon's staff will begin figuring assessments for 1962, as prescribed in Senate Bill 121.

Leon said one of the advantages of Senate Bill 121 is that it provides an opportunity for his field deputies to complete much of their outdoor work during warm weather months.

As automobile license tags also are purchased July 1 each year, this, too, will enable the assessor's office to maintain a more up-to-date list of motor vehicle owners for tax purposes.

The assessor said he or his staff members will be "glad to accommodate county residents with answers to questions on the new tax legislation" if they will visit the office in the Courthouse in New Cumberland.

Leon also reported that the tax workers visiting in the county are from the State Tax Department in Charleston who are compiling data for the state's re-evaluation program that was launched in 1957.

Event To Be At Westgate

Party Will Climax Prom Friday

A full night of entertainment, dancing and food has been arranged by the post-prom committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for high school students following the annual Junior - Senior dance Friday night at the Memorial Auditorium.

Robert Brooks, chairman, said the event will be held this year at Westgate School. This will aid greatly in presenting a more rounded program, he said.

The tickets are being sold by members of the Junior Class cabinet. The admission is $3 per couple, which is used to help defray the costs.

Four professional acts will be provided. One will be the Altiers of Pittsburgh, above, a rock 'n roll group. The show will include Sonny Day, a singer, comic and ventriloquist, and Monte Kahril, a mentalist and hypnotist. Another act also will be booked.

Brooks said those attending must be registered at Westgate by 12:30 a.m., following the dance. Jaycees will be on hand to park the cars for those attending.

All will have to sign in, and once they are there, must remain until the close at 6 a.m.

A color movie, "How to Marry a Millionaire," will be screened in the auditorium. It was selected by the students, who also picked the professional acts.

Del Sinchak and his orchestra from Youngstown will provide music for dancing.

The students will be fed in the school cafeteria. A catering service has been contracted to handle this phase. Brooks said snacks and refreshments will be provided all night.

The entertainment will be presented in two phases, one show about 2 a.m. and the other at 4:30.

Brooks said that if any student leaves, the parents will be contacted and the student will not be permitted to return. They will be chaperoned at all times, he said.

The party is held each year in an effort to keep the students off the highways and out of area night clubs. The cost is much less, the students do not have to travel far and they can see the same type acts that appear in area clubs.

Brooks' committee includes Dick Chadwick, in charge of interior arrangements; Carl Pelini, movie, tables and chairs; John Duffy, insurance and the curfew waiver, and Harold Bricker, food.

Ex-Hitler Deputy Linked To Eichmann Capture Site

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Argentina's former ambassador to Israel today said Martin Bormann—Hitler's deputy whose fate has been a mystery since the war—was in Argentina when Adolf Eichmann was captured last year.

Dr. Gregorio Topolevsky, now retired from the Argentine foreign service, said in a Tel Aviv news conference that Bormann had been living under an alias and disappeared into Brazil when he heard of Eichmann's capture by Israeli agents in May 1960.

Topolevsky said that if Israel had requested Eichmann's extradition through official channels, he would have vanished "two hours later." Eichmann was spirited out of the country by Israeli agents.

The former ambassador said Dr. Joseph Mengele, Nazi physician at Auschwitz who selected vast numbers of victims for the gas chamber, was also known by Argentine security services to be in that country.

Mengele also disappeared, Topolevsky said, when he heard authorities were looking for him.

Topolevsky also claimed there were several Nazi cells in Argentina, mainly in the south, and that they had transferred huge sums of money and gold from Switzerland.

Heavy Wind Storm Hurts 4 In County

about four-foot high was loosened and will have to be replaced.

Several thousand dollars damage resulted to the Beaver Creek Presbyterian Camp near Grimms Bridge, and one of the caretakers narrowly escaped injury when a tree crashed on a car.

The camp was to open in three weeks. The roof was blown off the shelter-house and several trees fell on the artscraft building. The garage roof also was heavily damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, caretakers, had been working at the camp in preparation for the opening.

They decided to return to their home at the camp site when the storm started developing. Reynolds got out of the car in front of the home to enter the house but Mrs. Reynolds remained inside because of the heavy rain.

A large tree then fell across the car roof, smashing the rear window but Mrs. Reynolds was not hurt.

There are two roads into the camp and one was blocked by uprooted trees. They got out by moving several trees from the path on the other road.

A fallen television antenna and a patio roof ripped loose by the wind were blamed for the major power shortages in East Liverpool last night, W. A. Black, district manager of the Ohio Power Co., said.

Interruptions on major feeders lasted from 45 minutes to 3½ hours, Black said, and in some isolated areas may have lasted longer.

The television antenna blew across a power line at Woodlawn Ave. and Grant St., interrupting service and starting a fire at the home of Jack Fulmer, 310 Grant St.

Firemen said the antenna shorted out the line and the current apparently followed the line back into the Fulmer home, setting fire to a plastic wastebasket in the bathroom.

When the wind ripped off the aluminum patio roof at the home of George A. Masitros, 1323 St. Clair Ave., sections of the roof landed in a St. Clair Ave. feeder, shorting out two of three lines and interrupting service from the top of St. Clair Ave. to McCoy Ave., Black said.

Three feeder lines in Wellsville also were knocked down as well as a feeder in the West End of Salineville, the utility manager said.

A flying article knocked down a feeder line on Route 45 near the new clay mine of the McLain Brick Division of the H. K. Porter Co., Inc., interrupting service.

Three wires were blown down on 3rd St. near Wells Ave. and two wires were broken at 13th St.

A feeder along Route 39 in the west end of Salineville also was struck.

There were many isolated cases of interrupted service, he added.

Late this morning crews, who worked all night, still were restoring service to some homes, Black said. Every available man was summoned, he added.

Half the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. force worked about half the night repairing damage to telephone lines which interrupted service to some 75 customers, T. Fred Edwards, commercial manager, said.

Service to some 50 customers in Gardendale was cut off when tree limbs fell across a 50 - pair cable, Edwards said, and some 25 customers in scattered areas were without service because of fallen tree limbs.

Some 500 feet of cable and two poles were damaged by the strong winds near Waterford Park, Edwards said, and two utility poles were overhanging Route 45 but there was no service outage. However, crews were called to the scene to straighten the poles.

Winds of 35 to 40-mile velocity whipped the area as the storm advanced and the Greater Pittsburgh Airport weather station estimated gusts of 50 to 60 miles.

The rains came in wind-driven sheets that obscured the Ohio Valley at times.

The runoff flooded sewers and rural creeks.

Dam 7 at Midland registered 0.15 inch of precipitation from the storm, raising the day's total to 0.44. The remainder fell during the forenoon in a series of showers.

A resident of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. and his son had a narrow escape when the winds destroyed a barn and attached garage in which they were standing. They were unscathed.

Theodore Zimmerman said his son, Gary, 15, had just entered the barn used for tool storage when the heavy rain started. They remained in the structure, waiting for the rain to end.

In a few moments, heavy gusts of wind lifted the roofs from the 20-x-24-foot frame garage and the 16-x-20-foot cement block barn then blew down the walls, scattering debris over the yard.

Two cars in the garage received some damage, Zimmerman said.

A side of a barn was blown in at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollinger of the Bell School Rd. off Route 7.

Mrs. Hollinger said two large doors were blown from the barn and carried into the yard where they knocked down a section of fence. Horses in the large barn were not harmed. The property is owned by Phil Miraglata.

Baker & Hickey and Chapin & Chapin, the two major contractors on the city freeway project, reported no damage to heavy equipment or material. There was "slight" flooding of some excavations as a result of the heavy rain, one of the concerns said. Carpenters Run rose, but not to a serious flood level.

Several heavy tree limbs were blown down in the Glenmoor area. A 24-sheet billboard was flattened on the Lisbon St. Hill and another alongside it was twisted by the high wind.

A heavy metal and neon sign overhanging the sidewalk was blown down at the Washington Lunch on Washington St. Steve Dallis, the proprietor, said the wind came in such heavy gusts it appeared to move his car, which was parked at the curb nearby.

An aluminum awning over the front porch of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Kelly of Swickhard Ave., Glenmoor, was ripped loose and blown about 200 feet from the house. The TV antenna was torn off the porch.

A pane of glass was blown out of a window on the top floor of the west side of the Potters Savings & Loan Co. Building at Washington St. and Broadway.

A plate glass display window about 7-x-9-feet was blown out of the Broadway side of the Hays Oil Co. service station, which faces Broadway and E. 5th St.

An 80-foot section of a one-story frame building was blown off its foundation in Glenmoor and then collapsed, causing damage estimated at $2,000 to $3,000.

The building was destroyed on the property of T. B. Reed of Route 267 in the east end of Glenmoor. He said the area apparently was hit by "a little twister," as the damage was confined to the building and a limb that was torn off a nearby tree.

Reed said the building housed 25 chickens, but only two or three were lost. The building was blown about 20 feet from its foundation and then collapsed in a heap. Reed said the loss is covered by insurance.

Although there was widespread damage, Wellsville's primary trouble was with power lines. A roof was blown from a Broadway home.

Almost the entire city was blacked out at 7 when the storm hit. Most of the city remained in darkness for about four hours.

Wires were down at 12th and Lisbon Sts., 12th and White Sts., 3rd and Main Sts., 3rd and Commerce Sts. and on Route 45 near the H. K. Porter Co. mine. The wires on Route 45 blocked traffic both ways.

Numerous service lines to private homes and garages were blown loose.

The tin roof from a double home at 330 Broadway was lifted up and the chimney fell in.

The roof was lifted from the side occupied by Charles Kountz and laid over onto the section where Mrs. William Ring resides. Mrs. Ring said the two front bedrooms of both homes was ruined by the water. She said all the furniture and clothing were damaged.

A power line at 12th and Lisbon behind the Sterling China Co. fell across ware boxes stacked along side a storage room. The line shorted on the metal frames of the boxes and ignited them. The storeroom is not connected with the main plant.

Firemen could not extinguish the fire because of the power in the lines but remained on standby to see the blaze did not spread. Oil in drums is stored in the building.

Firemen were posted at all the places where wires were down. They were dispatched from the station as the calls came in.

Chief Robert Lewis said there was "fine co-operation" between members of the police department and firemen. The police directed traffic and aided in all the operations.

Power was restored to one section of the city about 9:20, to another section shortly after 10 and finally all power was back on shortly after 11.

One section at the extreme lower end of town had power during the interruption.

Chief Lewis said the fire hazard was heightened by the fact people were utilizing candles and oil lamps. All available firemen were called in to remain on standby.

Several trees were blown down, including a 25-foot tree on Main St. just below 9th St.

There was considerable damage in Fairview, Ohio Township, where winds carried the roof from a service station garage 500 feet.

The roof of a three-room house was blown off and scattered. A garage was lifted from its foundation. Two weeping willow trees were torn out by the roots.

The garage of George Glovak's service station and store in Fairview on Route 278, next to the Fairview Grange Hall, was destroyed.

One wall and front of the garage were torn down and a car in the garage, belonging to Jack Jacobus of Atlanta, Ga., was damaged by falling debris.

Jack Delo, a mechanic working on the car, dived under it when the roof was blown away.

About a block away, a three-room house, owned by J. M. Smith of Fairview, was damaged. The roof was blown off. He said the house may be a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfe resided in the house. She was alone at the time.

At the home of Jacobus' mother, Mrs. Audrey Jacobus of Fairview, the garage was blown from its foundation.

In Midland, there was little damage except to about three trees on Midland Ave. in the Spring Ln. area. Matt Brozic, street foreman, was at the scene late last night preparing to remove one of the trees today. Street lights came on again at 8:28 p. m.

The Rochester barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported a tree blown down on Route 18 about three miles south of Monaca.

The Duquesne Light Co. reported some 40 customers on Route 68 were without electricity for three hours in Brighton Township. The company said some 20 wires were down, affecting some 150 customers between two and three hours.

Mike Ersik, 33, of Monaca, a company lineman is in "good" condition today at Rochester General Hospital. He was cutting through a conductor on the Barclay Hill Rd. when a limb flew up and injured his arm and face.

Beaver Falls suffered no major damage but cellars were flooded and trees were uprooted.

At the home of Clarence Finney of West Mayfield, a side was blown out along with aluminum awnings. A double carport was blown away at the home of Edward Lackner on the Dutch Ridge Rd. in Brighton Township. Debris was carried 200 feet.

A number of buildings in the Guilford Lake area were damaged. The roof of a brick home owned by a Canton man was torn off, and landed on the lot of Rudy Wilk, damaging spouting and destroying yew trees.

The roof of a trailer of Fritz Miller was blown off. Several trees were downed, along with power lines.

The main path of damage lay through the center of Columbiana County, a belt extending from New Alexandria north of Lisbon.

Mrs. Lautzenheiser, 39, was admitted to Salem Central Clinic for observation. He was hurled out of the barn.

At New Garden, the roof of the home of Jacob Gerber was ripped off by high winds, and near Columbiana, a section of roof at the Kaiser Chemical Co. plant was peeled off.

Throughout the path of the storm, power lines and trees were downed, and roofs torn from various buildings in the rural district.

Roofs of barns were blown off and the debris was scattered over a wide area of the stables along Route 66 south of Newell. A wall of one barn was caved in.

The track was hit by another storm two years ago and damage then was estimated at $19,000. Damage from Monday evening's winds and rain surpasses even that amount, officials indicated today.

The Monongahela Power Co. office in Chester reported only scattered power interruptions to individual homes and no serious damage to lines in upper Hancock.

Power was interrupted for a family on Washington School Rd., Mary's Lunch in Newell, and another home south of Newell where a service line was blown down. A television antenna was blown across a power line in Newell.

The Globe Brick Co. at Kenilworth was forced to suspend operations this morning because of a power failure attributed to the storm.

The wind ripped a roof off a shed on to electrical lines serving the company's clay mine and downed a 2,300-volt circuit. The company curtailed operations because of a shortage of clay.

Crews were busy this morning restoring power service to the clay mine and normal operations were expected to resume this afternoon.

Salineville escaped the brunt of the storm and, aside from a power failure and a number of television antennas downed, there was little damage.

A house trailer was reported upset by the wind at the construction site of a new high school building in Hammondsville in the Stanton Local School District.

WEIRTON — The Weirton Heights area was darkened and without telephone service for about four hours when the wind lifted a roof off a building and partially suspended it on electrical lines Monday night.

The donation will be 50 cents for adults and 25 for students, which will help defray costs of the programs. Tickets may be purchased from any participant in the festival or at the door.

Street Group At Salineville To Air Deficit

SALINEVILLE — Council's street committee Monday night scheduled a special meeting in the near future to discuss street operations in the face of $2,000 plus deficit.

The committee will meet with Pete Growall, street supervisor, to discuss arrangements for utilizing men working out welfare payments.

Mayor Kenneth Leishman reported J. L. Pelley of Salem, state auditor representative, has authorized the joint purchase of a pneumatic hammer by the water department and the Woodlawn Cemetery.

Councilman Orvel Tolson reported the village hall roof leaks, and Police Chief Cleo Mellott submitted a request for new wall paper at his Village Hall apartment. The requests were referred to the building committee.

Mayor Leishman said the owner of a private swimming pool of E. Main St. has planned to construct a fence about the pool. At a previous meeting, the hazard of the ungarded pool was reported.

The wall against which they gathered fortunately remained standing when the structure gave way in the brunt of sharp winds and rain. Furniture and other items were damaged.

about four-foot high was loosened and will have to be replaced.

Several thousand dollars damage resulted to the Beaver Creek Presbyterian Camp near Grimms Bridge, and one of the caretakers narrowly escaped injury when a tree crashed on a car.

The camp was to open in three weeks. The roof was blown off the shelter-house and several trees fell on the artscraft building. The garage roof also was heavily damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds, caretakers, had been working at the camp in preparation for the opening.

They decided to return to their home at the camp site when the storm started developing. Reynolds got out of the car in front of the home to enter the house but Mrs. Reynolds remained inside because of the heavy rain.

A large tree then fell across the car roof, smashing the rear window but Mrs. Reynolds was not hurt.

There are two roads into the camp and one was blocked by uprooted trees. They got out by moving several trees from the path on the other road.

A fallen television antenna and a patio roof ripped loose by the wind were blamed for the major power shortages in East Liverpool last night, W. A. Black, district manager of the Ohio Power Co., said.

Interruptions on major feeders lasted from 45 minutes to 3½ hours, Black said, and in some isolated areas may have lasted longer.

The television antenna blew across a power line at Woodlawn Ave. and Grant St., interrupting service and starting a fire at the home of Jack Fulmer, 310 Grant St.

Firemen said the antenna shorted out the line and the current apparently followed the line back into the Fulmer home, setting fire to a plastic wastebasket in the bathroom.

When the wind ripped off the aluminum patio roof at the home of George A. Masitros, 1323 St. Clair Ave., sections of the roof landed in a St. Clair Ave. feeder, shorting out two of three lines and interrupting service from the top of St. Clair Ave. to McCoy Ave., Black said.

Three feeder lines in Wellsville also were knocked down as well as a feeder in the West End of Salineville, the utility manager said.

A flying article knocked down a feeder line on Route 45 near the new clay mine of the McLain Brick Division of the H. K. Porter Co., Inc., interrupting service.

Three wires were blown down on 3rd St. near Wells Ave. and two wires were broken at 13th St.

A feeder along Route 39 in the west end of Salineville also was struck.

There were many isolated cases of interrupted service, he added.

Late this morning crews, who worked all night, still were restoring service to some homes, Black said. Every available man was summoned, he added.

Half the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. force worked about half the night repairing damage to telephone lines which interrupted service to some 75 customers, T. Fred Edwards, commercial manager, said.

Service to some 50 customers in Gardendale was cut off when tree limbs fell across a 50 - pair cable, Edwards said, and some 25 customers in scattered areas were without service because of fallen tree limbs.

Some 500 feet of cable and two poles were damaged by the strong winds near Waterford Park, Edwards said, and two utility poles were overhanging Route 45 but there was no service outage. However, crews were called to the scene to straighten the poles.

Winds of 35 to 40-mile velocity whipped the area as the storm advanced and the Greater Pittsburgh Airport weather station estimated gusts of 50 to 60 miles.

The rains came in wind-driven sheets that obscured the Ohio Valley at times.

The runoff flooded sewers and rural creeks.

Dam 7 at Midland registered 0.15 inch of precipitation from the storm, raising the day's total to 0.44. The remainder fell during the forenoon in a series of showers.

A resident of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. and his son had a narrow escape when the winds destroyed a barn and attached garage in which they were standing. They were unscathed.

Theodore Zimmerman said his son, Gary, 15, had just entered the barn used for tool storage when the heavy rain started. They remained in the structure, waiting for the rain to end.

In a few moments, heavy gusts of wind lifted the roofs from the 20-x-24-foot frame garage and the 16-x-20-foot cement block barn then blew down the walls, scattering debris over the yard.

Two cars in the garage received some damage, Zimmerman said.

A side of a barn was blown in at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollinger of the Bell School Rd. off Route 7.

Mrs. Hollinger said two large doors were blown from the barn and carried into the yard where they knocked down a section of fence. Horses in the large barn were not harmed. The property is owned by Phil Miraglata.

Baker & Hickey and Chapin & Chapin, the two major contractors on the city freeway project, reported no damage to heavy equipment or material. There was "slight" flooding of some excavations as a result of the heavy rain, one of the concerns said. Carpenters Run rose, but not to a serious flood level.

Several heavy tree limbs were blown down in the Glenmoor area. A 24-sheet billboard was flattened on the Lisbon St. Hill and another alongside it was twisted by the high wind.

A heavy metal and neon sign overhanging the sidewalk was blown down at the Washington Lunch on Washington St. Steve Dallis, the proprietor, said the wind came in such heavy gusts it appeared to move his car, which was parked at the curb nearby.

An aluminum awning over the front porch of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Kelly of Swickhard Ave., Glenmoor, was ripped loose and blown about 200 feet from the house. The TV antenna was torn off the porch.

A plate glass display window about 7-x-9-feet was blown out of the Broadway side of the Hays Oil Co. service station, which faces Broadway and E. 5th St.

An 80-foot section of a one-story frame building was blown off its foundation in Glenmoor and then collapsed, causing damage estimated at $2,000 to $3,000.

The building was destroyed on the property of T. B. Reed of Route 267 in the east end of Glenmoor. He said the area apparently was hit by "a little twister," as the damage was confined to the building and a limb that was torn off a nearby tree.

Reed said the building housed 25 chickens, but only two or three were lost. The building was blown about 20 feet from its foundation and then collapsed in a heap. Reed said the loss is covered by insurance.

Although there was widespread damage, Wellsville's primary trouble was with power lines. A roof was blown from a Broadway home.

Almost the entire city was blacked out at 7 when the storm hit. Most of the city remained in darkness for about four hours.

Wires were down at 12th and Lisbon Sts., 12th and White Sts., 3rd and Main Sts., 3rd and Commerce Sts. and on Route 45 near the H. K. Porter Co. mine. The wires on Route 45 blocked traffic both ways.

Numerous service lines to private homes and garages were blown loose.

The tin roof from a double home at 330 Broadway was lifted up and the chimney fell in.

The roof was lifted from the side occupied by Charles Kountz and laid over onto the section where Mrs. William Ring resides. Mrs. Ring said the two front bedrooms of both homes was ruined by the water. She said all the furniture and clothing were damaged.

A power line at 12th and Lisbon behind the Sterling China Co. fell across ware boxes stacked along side a storage room. The line shorted on the metal frames of the boxes and ignited them. The storeroom is not connected with the main plant.

Firemen could not extinguish the fire because of the power in the lines but remained on standby to see the blaze did not spread. Oil in drums is stored in the building.

Firemen were posted at all the places where wires were down. They were dispatched from the station as the calls came in.

Chief Robert Lewis said there was "fine co-operation" between members of the police department and firemen. The police directed traffic and aided in all the operations.

Power was restored to one section of the city about 9:20, to another section shortly after 10 and finally all power was back on shortly after 11.

One section at the extreme lower end of town had power during the interruption.

Chief Lewis said the fire hazard was heightened by the fact people were utilizing candles and oil lamps. All available firemen were called in to remain on standby.

Several trees were blown down, including a 25-foot tree on Main St. just below 9th St.

At the home of Jacobus' mother, Mrs. Audrey Jacobus of Fairview, the garage was blown from its foundation.

she discovered the billfold missing.

When she returned to the card counter to see if she had laid her change purse down, Mrs. Loos said she learned from Mrs. Snyder that her wallet had been stolen.

Mrs. Marrelli was shopping for a hair net when her wallet was taken. A woman stood next to her but didn't purchase any articles and left, Mrs. Marrelli said. Another woman told her that her purse was open and she found her billfold had been taken.

Several months ago, there was another series of pocket-picking near the same counter, police recalled. The pickpocket at that time used the same "dodge," distracting the victims by bumping them while lifting the wallets.

Palestine Family Unhurt In Roof Fall

EAST PALESTINE — A State Line Rd. family escaped serious injury at the height of Monday's severe storm when the ends of their garage home collapsed and the roof was blown off.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ash and their youngsters were huddled against one wall of the cement block garage in which they have been residing during construction of a new home nearby.

The wall against which they gathered fortunately remained standing when the structure gave way in the brunt of sharp winds and rain. Furniture and other items were damaged.

The home of Armand Bruno of Alice St. was struck by lightning, causing a large hole in the roof and damage to the interior.

Power failures, due to downed wires, hit the Negley Rd. and Lemly Rd. areas, but city crews made repairs in half an hour.

The back road to Unity was blocked most of the night by a large tree blown across the roadway. A large sign at the E. Taggart St. shopping center fell, and a window at the home of Atty. Robert Hartford of N. Market St. was blown in.

Over 100 television antennas were downed or bent, city officials estimated this morning.

Trees Cut Lines In Waterford Area

NEW WATERFORD — Tree-grounded power lines caused an Ohio Edison Co. power failure for four hours and 15 minutes following Monday night's storm — the longest service outage since World War II, village officials said today.

Violent winds also ripped the roof off of the furniture repair shop of Lester Lunger of the Waterford - Columbiana Rd., and the home of Roy Knight of Park Ave. was heavily damaged by a fallen tree.

A number of trees and limbs were downed and television antennas bent or broken.

Leesville Scout Camp Believed Undamaged

The Leesville Lake area and other parts of southern and central Carroll County were hard hit by the wind-driven rainstorm Monday night.

The Petersburg boat landing at the north end of Leesville Lake was destroyed, and roofs blown over buildings in the area. A number of boats and motors were lost, according to sheriff's deputies this morning.

Deputies said they had not had time to investigate Camp Twin Spruce, a Boy Scout camp operated by Columbiana Council at Leesville Lake, but they had heard of no severe damage there.

A barn was downed in Fox Township, killing some cows, deputies said. It occurred at the Harry Detcheon property.

Throughout the county power lines, telephone lines and trees were down as the wind slashed over the southern part of the district.

Near Harlem Springs, a trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wright, formerly of Salineville, was blown over, causing minor bruises to the family, who were given treatment by a physician.

easiest question I have heard today. No."

Newsmen warmed to his repeated references to what "we" had done—that is, his six fellow astronauts and the hundreds of scientists and other workers who contributed to the man-in-space program.

About the only thing he declined to comment on was whether he found "any discrepancies" in what the Soviet Union's space man Major Yuri Gagarin reported he saw in his orbit around the earth.

Shepard said the American astronauts were so involved in their own flight plans that they didn't have time to study data on Gagarin's flight.

He described calmly—as if it were just another airplane flight, his space ride that entailed:

easiest question I have heard today. No."

Newsmen warmed to his repeated references to what "we" had done—that is, his six fellow astronauts and the hundreds of scientists and other workers who contributed to the man-in-space program.

About the only thing he declined to comment on was whether he found "any discrepancies" in what the Soviet Union's space man Major Yuri Gagarin reported he saw in his orbit around the earth.

Shepard said the American astronauts were so involved in their own flight plans that they didn't have time to study data on Gagarin's flight.

He described calmly—as if it were just another airplane flight, his space ride that entailed:

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I disagree with you. Your advice to "Had It Both Ways" was not only stuffy, it was an injustice to unmarried people.

I say it requires more maturity to stay single than to get married. The self-supporting single woman must put up with all types of people in every walk of life. This takes as much maturity as putting up with interfering in-laws, squalling brats and stingy husbands.

As for marriage's giving a woman "respectability," what did you mean by that crack? Why do you blithely assume that all single girls are tramping around? I'll bet there are more cheating wives than there are single girls running with married men.

You mentioned security. If married women are so secure why are so many of them working?

Sense of belonging—most husbands wouldn't let you "belong" if you didn't clean, cook, wash, iron, have babies and attend to their physical and emotional needs. A wife who fails on any count may find herself with a roaming husband...

You bet marriage isn't for everyone. In our office alone there are at least 8 men and 11 women who are married and believe me, marriage is not for them! I think you ought to eat those words, Ann Landers.—G.G.

Dear G.G.: Gulp! Gulp! Gulp!

Pushing Mother

Dear Ann: I'm the most miserable 16-year-old in the United States. I've studied classical piano since I was 8. My mother insists that I practice four hours every day even if it means getting up at 6 a.m. to put in two hours before school.

I am invited to play at all sorts of conventions and club meetings. My mother goes ahead and accepts engagements for me without checking. I've had to cancel plans I've made because I didn't know my mother had booked me on a program.

When I complain she tells me I'm a silly goose and that a person who is gifted should forget about boys until she's 21.

Please help me. I'm beginning to hate the piano and my mother, too.—OUT OF TUNE.

Dear Out: If your mother knew what she was doing to your personality and emotional health she'd cut it out. A young girl, even if she is talented, should be permitted to enjoy the fun of her teen-age years.

The gifted person needs a social life and outside interests more than the ordinary one. Too often talented individuals become introverted and lopsided. Your mother should talk this over with an expert and change her tactics before you rebel against everything and everyone.

No Fond Adieu

Dear Ann: Our son was called into the service last month. I gave a farewell party for him at my home the night before he left and invited only the immediate family.

Believe me, Ann, I didn't give the party so people would shower him with gifts. I didn't expect anything. But I must say I was very surprised and hurt when nobody brought a present or gave him any money.

I've been very generous with this bunch and this was like a slap in the face. Am I wrong or right?—S.B.M.

Dear S.B.M.: It would have been nice if the family had gotten together and bought him a little farewell gift but since you weren't expecting anything you should not be hurt (or greedy).

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Awaits Season Peak For Bananas

Bananas lead the parade of buys at area fruit counters this week, according to Richard Skinner, marketing agent with the Co-operative Extension Service in Canfield.

Bananas will be in good supply until mid-June, he said. Quality for the most part is as good. Bananas are one of the few fruits that have the best flavor when picked green, Skinner said. All bananas are picked while green, even those that are to be eaten in the tropic.

Grapefruit continues to be in good supply, Skinner said. The season is later this year because of cooler weather in Florida during the early part of the season.

On the vegetable counters, lettuce prices vary greatly from one week to the next, as does quality. But good quality often may have low price tags. Several day's supply of lettuce may be kept if you handle it carefully. Remove all damaged parts and store either in a plastic bag or in the hydrator of the refrigerator.

You'll also find good supplies of endive, escarole, romaine and spinach as well as leaf and bibb lettuce. Egg plant also is again on the market in fairly good supply and priced below a year ago. This is the peak season for artichokes and the California crop is large. Although seldom a low-priced vegetable, present prices are about as low as will be found.

Broilers continue to dominate the meat picture. Prices were as low as 25 cents on some markets and will probably be that low again this week.

Look for lamb to be featured by your grocer in the next few weeks. Because of lower wool prices farmers are moving many of their lambs to market early this year.

Egg prices are down slightly, with the large size still the best buy.

Dietitian Guesses First Lady's Weight

It's exciting to go to a luncheon at the White House as a guest of the First Lady. The occasion was a luncheon party which Mrs. John F. Kennedy gave for 200 women of the Washington press corps, plus a few out - of - town guests.

Ida Jean Kain

It was really a party, not a press conference. To begin with, we were invited to come through the Southwest Gate, the impressive entrance reserved for important guests.

My taxi driver commented that, though he had driven a cab in the Capitol for 18 years, this was the first time he had entered the White House grounds. The party was held in the most glamorous part of the Executive Mansion, the rooms used for affairs of state.

AFTER BEING served sherry in the State Dining Room, we were directed through the Red Room, on into the Blue Room where we were greeted by Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the Vice-President.

The First Lady wore a wheat-colored, two-piece sleeveless dress of ribbed silk and linen. Her jewelry was a triple-strand of pearls and, on one side of the bateau neckline, she wore a spun gold pin resembling a stemmed flower. She had the uncluttered look of elegant simplicity.

Mrs. Johnson, who wore a cafe au lait shantung ensemble, greeted each one of us in her sparkling and always friendly way. Lady Bird Johsnon is so wholehearted that you feel she is sincerely pleased to see you ... even in a long line of 200.

The long buffet table was set up in the East Room under the famed portrait of George Washington. The table looked beautiful and the food, which offered a wide choice, was delicious.

Your dietitian almost forgot to eat. On entering the foyer at the top of the stairs when we first came in, each guest had drawn a number from a silver bowl. I drew Table 11. When Mrs. Kennedy entered the East Room, she came directly to Table 11! I was one of seven to draw Lucky 11.

I can tell you that our First Lady is just as lovely as reported. She has an uncontrived beauty. She speaks in a soft, unhurried way. Her voice is the subtle blend of New England with just a touch of foreign intrigue.

Jacqueline Kennedy is tall and willowy slim. When she told me she is 5 feet 7, I asked if I might guess her weight. Looking amused, she agreed. When I ventured 123 pounds, her big brown eyes opened wide in surprise. I had guessed it exactly.

OUR FIRST LADY is unexpectedly friendly. She even autographed the plaster cast I wore. I had broken a small bone in my hand. I hasten to assure you this was not the result of gymnastics. It happened when I tripped while running with our dog Cindy.

In her brief welcoming speech, Mrs. Kennedy thanked the press women for stimulating renewed interest in the White House through their writings.

She is genuinely fascinated in the history surrounding the White House and has channeled her natural artistic talents toward making the austere Executive Mansion less institutional. She calls the White House 'your house.' Certainly our young First Lady has a gracious way of making her guests feel at home.

More Will Go On List For 'No Liquor'

Eight more men will be banned from purchasing intoxicating liquor in city taverns under a list being prepared by Police Chief Americo Radeschi.

It brings to 16 the number of men barred from buying any type of liquor under the ordinance. The first list was prepared several weeks ago at the request of Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who said the men are constantly appearing in court on intoxication charges.

Meanwhile, the eight men on the original list are being notified by the State Department of Liquor Control that it also is taking action.

In form letters to the eight, given to police for distribution, J. Frederic Rose, permit chief, said the department received the request from the city, found the complaint justified and is notifying tavern owners to discontinue the sale of intoxicating liquor until further notice.

Chief Radeschi said he had forwarded the names of the original eight and also will forward to the state agency the names of the men on the second list for similar action.

Church Juniors Plan Exercises At School

Plans to conduct the opening and closing of the Sabbath School of the Bethel Presbyterian Church May 21 were made by the Junior Fellowship at a meeting Sunday afternoon at the home of Miss Jeannette Smith of the Salineville Rd., Wellsville.

Kathy Rose and Bill McPherson will provide the music, Scripture will be read by Karen Buzzard, prayer will be offered by David Dean and the lesson will be read by Paula Crist. Kenny Rose and Tommy Hays will announce. The Fellowship will divide into groups of twos to visit each class during the Sabbath School hour.

A hayride was planned for June 3 at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Norman Dean off Route 39, teacher of the class. Next meeting is June 4 at 2:30 in the Hays' home in Highlandtown.

Scout Leaders To Plan District Camporee

Plans for a Cherokee District Camporee May 21 at Camp McKinley will be discussed at a meeting of district Boy Scout leaders tonight at 7:30 at the Chester American Legion home.

William Rayburn, camping chairman, will outline plans. All committee heads, institutional representatives and members are expected to attend, Robert Gray, exectuive said.

A small amount of baked ham leftover? Cut it in matchstick-size strips and add it to a tossed green salad along with grated Parmesan cheese; or add it to the egg mixture you are going to scramble for lunch or brunch; or mix it with leftover diced cooked potatoes and cream sauce.

Man Draws Fine In Tavern Fight

Richard Lisk, 28, of Dixonville was fined $25 and costs today in Municipal Court when Judge Samuel M. Chertoff convicted him of disorderly conduct by fighting in Gene's Bar on E. 6th St. April 28.

Lisk, who pleaded not guilty Monday, placed three witnesses on the stand at the hearing today to testify he was not involved in a fight. He said he saw two other men "wrestling" in the tavern, but he was not a participant.

The charges were filed by Sylvia Fulmer, an employe of the tavern. She testified Lisk was involved in a fight in which a window was broken.

Judge Chertoff commented he did not believe the testimony of the defense witnesses. He told Lisk: "Most of the tavern proprietors in this city are doing their best to operate orderly places, but they can't do it when young hoodlums like you come in and try to take over."

Incorporation Action Taken By Radio Club

Twenty attended a meeting of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club Monday night at the Smith St. quarters. Formal application for incorporation as a non-profit organization was authorized.

James Bowers, acting secretary, read the incorporation papers and was instructed to file the application and fees with the state of Ohio.

Plans were discussed for a demonstration of amateur radio at a Boy Scout Camporee May 21. Two films were screened. Charles Burcke, president, was presented a special gavel.

Four members of the Steubenville Radio Club were guests. Refreshments were served.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Figures Given On Working Mothers

Between 1948 and 1958 the number of mothers in the labor force of the United States increased 80 per cent. In 1958, 32 per cent of the labor force were women, 76 per cent of whom were or had been married. Almost half of these (7½ million) had children under 18. Nearly one-third of all mothers worked outside the home. A fifth of these had pre-school children and two-fifths had children of school age.

Dr. Garry Meyers

In 1957, the average income of women working full time was not quite two-thirds the average income for men. Almost two-fifths of the families headed by women had incomes under $2,000.

—:—

IN 1956, AMONG wives whose husbands' income was $10,000 or over and who had pre-school children, 7 per cent were working. Where husbands earned $1,000 - $3,000, the percentage was 25.

Comparable percentages among mothers of school-age children were 14 and 50.

Most mothers who work feel it is a necessity. Aside from earning, some reasons given are: wish for present independence and future security, loneliness and drudgery of homemaking, "low status" of being "only a housewife", recognition to be won in a career, satisfcation of work itself.

In 1952, there were about 2 million children under six whose mothers were working full time, and 3 million between six and 12.

OF THE CHILDREN under 12 whose mothers worked, over half 58% were cared for in their homes, chiefly by fathers and other relatives, about twice as many by other relatives as by fathers. About 12 per cent were cared for at home by non-relatives.

Twenty-two per cent of the children received care away from home, about half of them by relatives. Four per cent of the children under six received group care — in day nurseries, day-care centers, settlement houses, nursery schools. Then there were 400,000 children, most over six, expected to take care of themselves —"latch-key children".

These figures don't take account of the thousands of school children who must fend for themselves an hour or more before and after school, of great concern to school teachers and principals.

THERE ARE conflicting opinions, based on various studies, as to the effect on the child of his mother's separation from him while she works. Much depends on the kind of care he has then.

Some "experts" are saying that evidence from research available on the harm to children, even in relation to delinquency, is not as great, on the whole, as has been generally believed.

The foregoing is based on "Children of Working Mothers", a Children's Bureau Publication (to be had for 20 cents from the Supt. of Documents, Washington 25, D. C.).

My bulletin "Working Mothers" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Q. Have you a suggestion for patching up the hole that remains in a wall after a gas or water pipe has been removed?

A. You can make the job of plastering this hole easier if you'll use a cork to back up the plaster. The cork is trimmed to size and pressed into the hole flush with the lath. Be sure, before putting in the plaster, that you undercut the edges of the old plaster around the hole.

Q. How can I relieve tired nerves?

A. A remedy for tired nerves, that is often effective, is to place a hot water bottle at the base of the spine. This is also a remedy for insomnia.

Q. How can I remove rust that has formed on the porcelain sink or bathtub?

A. Rub the stains with kerosene. Rust stains that are caused by leaky faucets can be removed with lemon juice or vinegar.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I disagree with you. Your advice to "Had It Both Ways" was not only stuffy, it was an injustice to unmarried people.

I say it requires more maturity to stay single than to get married. The self-supporting single woman must put up with all types of people in every walk of life. This takes as much maturity as putting up with interfering in-laws, squalling brats and stingy husbands.

As for marriage's giving a woman "respectability," what did you mean by that crack? Why do you blithely assume that all single girls are tramping around? I'll bet there are more cheating wives than there are single girls running with married men.

You mentioned security. If married women are so secure why are so many of them working?

Sense of belonging—most husbands wouldn't let you "belong" if you didn't clean, cook, wash, iron, have babies and attend to their physical and emotional needs. A wife who fails on any count may find herself with a roaming husband...

You bet marriage isn't for everyone. In our office alone there are at least 8 men and 11 women who are married and believe me, marriage is not for them! I think you ought to eat those words, Ann Landers.—G.G.

Dear G.G.: Gulp! Gulp! Gulp!

Pushing Mother

Dear Ann: I'm the most miserable 16-year-old in the United States. I've studied classical piano since I was 8. My mother insists that I practice four hours every day even if it means getting up at 6 a.m. to put in two hours before school.

I am invited to play at all sorts of conventions and club meetings. My mother goes ahead and accepts engagements for me without checking. I've had to cancel plans I've made because I didn't know my mother had booked me on a program.

When I complain she tells me I'm a silly goose and that a person who is gifted should forget about boys until she's 21.

Please help me. I'm beginning to hate the piano and my mother, too.—OUT OF TUNE.

Dear Out: If your mother knew what she was doing to your personality and emotional health she'd cut it out. A young girl, even if she is talented, should be permitted to enjoy the fun of her teen-age years.

The gifted person needs a social life and outside interests more than the ordinary one. Too often talented individuals become introverted and lopsided. Your mother should talk this over with an expert and change her tactics before you rebel against everything and everyone.

No Fond Adieu

Dear Ann: Our son was called into the service last month. I gave a farewell party for him at my home the night before he left and invited only the immediate family.

Believe me, Ann, I didn't give the party so people would shower him with gifts. I didn't expect anything. But I must say I was very surprised and hurt when nobody brought a present or gave him any money.

I've been very generous with this bunch and this was like a slap in the face. Am I wrong or right?—S.B.M.

Dear S.B.M.: It would have been nice if the family had gotten together and bought him a little farewell gift but since you weren't expecting anything you should not be hurt (or greedy).

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Awaits Season Peak For Bananas

Bananas lead the parade of buys at area fruit counters this week, according to Richard Skinner, marketing agent with the Co-operative Extension Service in Canfield.

Bananas will be in good supply until mid-June, he said. Quality for the most part is as good. Bananas are one of the few fruits that have the best flavor when picked green, Skinner said. All bananas are picked while green, even those that are to be eaten in the tropic.

Grapefruit continues to be in good supply, Skinner said. The season is later this year because of cooler weather in Florida during the early part of the season.

On the vegetable counters, lettuce prices vary greatly from one week to the next, as does quality. But good quality often may have low price tags. Several day's supply of lettuce may be kept if you handle it carefully. Remove all damaged parts and store either in a plastic bag or in the hydrator of the refrigerator.

You'll also find good supplies of endive, escarole, romaine and spinach as well as leaf and bibb lettuce. Egg plant also is again on the market in fairly good supply and priced below a year ago. This is the peak season for artichokes and the California crop is large. Although seldom a low-priced vegetable, present prices are about as low as will be found.

Broilers continue to dominate the meat picture. Prices were as low as 25 cents on some markets and will probably be that low again this week.

Look for lamb to be featured by your grocer in the next few weeks. Because of lower wool prices farmers are moving many of their lambs to market early this year.

Egg prices are down slightly, with the large size still the best buy.

Dietitian Guesses First Lady's Weight

It's exciting to go to a luncheon at the White House as a guest of the First Lady. The occasion was a luncheon party which Mrs. John F. Kennedy gave for 200 women of the Washington press corps, plus a few out - of - town guests.

Ida Jean Kain

It was really a party, not a press conference. To begin with, we were invited to come through the Southwest Gate, the impressive entrance reserved for important guests.

My taxi driver commented that, though he had driven a cab in the Capitol for 18 years, this was the first time he had entered the White House grounds. The party was held in the most glamorous part of the Executive Mansion, the rooms used for affairs of state.

AFTER BEING served sherry in the State Dining Room, we were directed through the Red Room, on into the Blue Room where we were greeted by Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, wife of the Vice-President.

The First Lady wore a wheat-colored, two-piece sleeveless dress of ribbed silk and linen. Her jewelry was a triple-strand of pearls and, on one side of the bateau neckline, she wore a spun gold pin resembling a stemmed flower. She had the uncluttered look of elegant simplicity.

Mrs. Johnson, who wore a cafe au lait shantung ensemble, greeted each one of us in her sparkling and always friendly way. Lady Bird Johsnon is so wholehearted that you feel she is sincerely pleased to see you ... even in a long line of 200.

The long buffet table was set up in the East Room under the famed portrait of George Washington. The table looked beautiful and the food, which offered a wide choice, was delicious.

Your dietitian almost forgot to eat. On entering the foyer at the top of the stairs when we first came in, each guest had drawn a number from a silver bowl. I drew Table 11. When Mrs. Kennedy entered the East Room, she came directly to Table 11! I was one of seven to draw Lucky 11.

I can tell you that our First Lady is just as lovely as reported. She has an uncontrived beauty. She speaks in a soft, unhurried way. Her voice is the subtle blend of New England with just a touch of foreign intrigue.

Jacqueline Kennedy is tall and willowy slim. When she told me she is 5 feet 7, I asked if I might guess her weight. Looking amused, she agreed. When I ventured 123 pounds, her big brown eyes opened wide in surprise. I had guessed it exactly.

OUR FIRST LADY is unexpectedly friendly. She even autographed the plaster cast I wore. I had broken a small bone in my hand. I hasten to assure you this was not the result of gymnastics. It happened when I tripped while running with our dog Cindy.

In her brief welcoming speech, Mrs. Kennedy thanked the press women for stimulating renewed interest in the White House through their writings.

She is genuinely fascinated in the history surrounding the White House and has channeled her natural artistic talents toward making the austere Executive Mansion less institutional. She calls the White House 'your house.' Certainly our young First Lady has a gracious way of making her guests feel at home.

More Will Go On List For 'No Liquor'

Eight more men will be banned from purchasing intoxicating liquor in city taverns under a list being prepared by Police Chief Americo Radeschi.

It brings to 16 the number of men barred from buying any type of liquor under the ordinance. The first list was prepared several weeks ago at the request of Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who said the men are constantly appearing in court on intoxication charges.

Meanwhile, the eight men on the original list are being notified by the State Department of Liquor Control that it also is taking action.

In form letters to the eight, given to police for distribution, J. Frederic Rose, permit chief, said the department received the request from the city, found the complaint justified and is notifying tavern owners to discontinue the sale of intoxicating liquor until further notice.

Chief Radeschi said he had forwarded the names of the original eight and also will forward to the state agency the names of the men on the second list for similar action.

Church Juniors Plan Exercises At School

Plans to conduct the opening and closing of the Sabbath School of the Bethel Presbyterian Church May 21 were made by the Junior Fellowship at a meeting Sunday afternoon at the home of Miss Jeannette Smith of the Salineville Rd., Wellsville.

Kathy Rose and Bill McPherson will provide the music, Scripture will be read by Karen Buzzard, prayer will be offered by David Dean and the lesson will be read by Paula Crist. Kenny Rose and Tommy Hays will announce. The Fellowship will divide into groups of twos to visit each class during the Sabbath School hour.

A hayride was planned for June 3 at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Norman Dean off Route 39, teacher of the class. Next meeting is June 4 at 2:30 in the Hays' home in Highlandtown.

Scout Leaders To Plan District Camporee

Plans for a Cherokee District Camporee May 21 at Camp McKinley will be discussed at a meeting of district Boy Scout leaders tonight at 7:30 at the Chester American Legion home.

William Rayburn, camping chairman, will outline plans. All committee heads, institutional representatives and members are expected to attend, Robert Gray, executive said.

A small amount of baked ham leftover? Cut it in matchstick-size strips and add it to a tossed green salad along with grated Parmesan cheese; or add it to the egg mixture you are going to scramble for lunch or brunch; or mix it with leftover diced cooked potatoes and cream sauce.

Man Draws Fine In Tavern Fight

Richard Lisk, 28, of Dixonville was fined $25 and costs today in Municipal Court when Judge Samuel M. Chertoff convicted him of disorderly conduct by fighting in Gene's Bar on E. 6th St. April 28.

Lisk, who pleaded not guilty Monday, placed three witnesses on the stand at the hearing today to testify he was not involved in a fight. He said he saw two other men "wrestling" in the tavern, but he was not a participant.

The charges were filed by Sylvia Fulmer, an employe of the tavern. She testified Lisk was involved in a fight in which a window was broken.

Judge Chertoff commented he did not believe the testimony of the defense witnesses. He told Lisk: "Most of the tavern proprietors in this city are doing their best to operate orderly places, but they can't do it when young hoodlums like you come in and try to take over."

Incorporation Action Taken By Radio Club

Twenty attended a meeting of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club Monday night at the Smith St. quarters. Formal application for incorporation as a non-profit organization was authorized.

James Bowers, acting secretary, read the incorporation papers and was instructed to file the application and fees with the state of Ohio.

Plans were discussed for a demonstration of amateur radio at a Boy Scout Camporee May 21. Two films were screened. Charles Burcke, president, was presented a special gavel.

Four members of the Steubenville Radio Club were guests. Refreshments were served.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Figures Given On Working Mothers

Between 1948 and 1958 the number of mothers in the labor force of the United States increased 80 per cent. In 1958, 32 per cent of the labor force were women, 76 per cent of whom were or had been married. Almost half of these (7½ million) had children under 18. Nearly one-third of all mothers worked outside the home. A fifth of these had pre-school children and two-fifths had children of school age.

In 1957, the average income of women working full time was not quite two-thirds the average income for men. Almost two-fifths of the families headed by women had incomes under $2,000.

IN 1956, AMONG wives whose husbands' income was $10,000 or over and who had pre-school children, 7 per cent were working. Where husbands earned $1,000 - $3,000, the percentage was 25.

Comparable percentages among mothers of school-age children were 14 and 50.

Most mothers who work feel it is a necessity. Aside from earning, some reasons given are: wish for present independence and future security, loneliness and drudgery of homemaking, "low status" of being "only a housewife", recognition to be won in a career, satisfcation of work itself.

In 1952, there were about 2 million children under six whose mothers were working full time, and 3 million between six and 12.

OF THE CHILDREN under 12 whose mothers worked, over half 58% were cared for in their homes, chiefly by fathers and other relatives, about twice as many by other relatives as by fathers. About 12 per cent were cared for at home by non-relatives.

Twenty-two per cent of the children received care away from home, about half of them by relatives. Four per cent of the children under six received group care — in day nurseries, day-care centers, settlement houses, nursery schools. Then there were 400,000 children, most over six, expected to take care of themselves —"latch-key children".

These figures don't take account of the thousands of school children who must fend for themselves an hour or more before and after school, of great concern to school teachers and principals.

THERE ARE conflicting opinions, based on various studies, as to the effect on the child of his mother's separation from him while she works. Much depends on the kind of care he has then.

Some "experts" are saying that evidence from research available on the harm to children, even in relation to delinquency, is not as great, on the whole, as has been generally believed.

The foregoing is based on "Children of Working Mothers", a Children's Bureau Publication (to be had for 20 cents from the Supt. of Documents, Washington 25, D. C.).

My bulletin "Working Mothers" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

10 Schools Entered, Salem Favored In 58th County Meet Slated Friday

Ten teams, five in the "AA" ranks and five in Class A, will take part in the 58th annual Columbiana County track and field meet Friday at Salem's Reilly Stadium.

Salem, undefeated in dual and triangular competition this season, rates as the team to beat, with East Palestine and East Liverpool expected to collect their share of points.

The other two AA schools are Wellsville and Beaver Local. In the "A" ranks are United, Lisbon, Leetonia, Fairfield-Waterford and Columbiana.

Salem captured the 1960 title and has won the county crown five times in the last eight years. The Quakers opened up a wide advantage in last year's running by scoring 72 2-3 points. Their nearest rival, East Palestine, tallied 45 1-3.

Competition will get under way at 2 p. m., with preliminaries and finals in the shot put the first event. The discus, high jump and broad jump also will be run off in the afternoon.

The evening session will get under way at 7.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner of the AA and A competition, with gold, silver and bronze medals going to individuals.

East Liverpool's Bob Mackall carried off the share of the trophies last year when he was high point man of the meet with 17 and was chosen the most valuable participant.

Fred Cope, Salem High athletic director, will supervise the 58th running. Dave Williams will be referee and John Russ the starter.

Salem and East Palestine have dominated the meet almost every year since 1922. Other than 1952 when East Liverpool and Palestine shared the crown and in 1959 when East Liverpool won the title, either the Bulldogs or Quakers have won.

Salem, with 23 victories to its credit, leads Palestine with 17.

Farrell Gets 4-3 Nod For LA Over Ex-Philly Mates

By The Associated Press

Right-hander Dick Farrell, paying a quick return for Los Angeles after last week's trade with Philadelphia, beat his old mates with four innings of four-hit, shutout relief Monday night as the Dodgers beat the Phils 4-3 in 10 innings. The only other National League game scheduled, San Francisco-Pittsburgh, was rained out.

Los Angeles defeated Boston 6-5 in the only American League game scheduled, despite a home run by Jackie Jensen in his second return to the Red Sox.

The Dodgers were shut out on four hits by Dallas Green for six innings, then tied it 3-all with two out in the seventh on a scoring single by Maury Wills and a two-run homer by Willie Davis. They finally put it away when losing reliever Chris Short (0-1) walked Wally Moon with two out in the 10th and Gil Hodges rapped a pinch double.

Farrell took over after starter Stan Williams was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. He walked two, struck out four and nailed the victory by throwing out Tony Taylor with two men on base in the 10th after two-out singles by pinch-hitters Clay Dalrymple and Tony Curry.

The Angels, after trading top bullpen man Tex Clevenger to the New York Yankees in a six-player swap, barely saved their victory over the Red Sox with a two-man relief job by Ted Bowsfield and Tom Morgan. Bowsfield followed starter Ken McBride, who was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth inning, and was tagged for Jensen's first home run of the season in a two-run seventh. Morgan gave up an RBI double by pinch-hitter Carroll Hardy for the final run, but then retired seven of the last eight men he faced.

McBride (2-2) was the winner, giving up three runs in the fifth—one unearned on center fielder Albie Pearson's second error of the frame—after the Angels had built a 5-0 lead against loser Gene Conley.

Jensen who jumped the Red Sox a week ago, walked twice and singled in addition to his home run. He is now 8-for-48, for a .167 average, and has driven in two runs.

The Angels' trade with New York sent Bob Cerv, a $75,000 pick from the player pool in the AL's expansion move, back to the Yankees along with Clevenger for reliever Ryne Duren, right-hander Johnny James, rookie outfielder Leroy Thomas and a minor league outfielder to be named.

The 'Wynn-ing' Way . . .

Less than a year later, on the strength of a fine fork ball and a little added confidence, Wynn has pitched his way to the top of the American League, where he is the leading hurler, up to this point, with a 3-0 record.

And what is even more amazing is his earned run average, a mere 1.17.

The three victories have come on successive Sundays. The first was on April 23 when Hawkins gained the decision in relief. He became Cleveland's "Sunday pitcher," a label tacked on a baseball team's "fifth starter," the following week and calmly defeated the Boston Red Sox, 10-1 on a five-hitter.

This past Sunday was another masterpiece for the ex - Baldwin-Wallace basketball star. He gave up four hits in defeating Washington, 4-2.

Hawkins feels the trip back to the minors last season paid dividends. He won seven of 10 games at Toronto and said after Sunday's game, "I'm a better pitcher for it. I was making too many bad pitches before."

As a result of the bad pitches, Hawkins was falling behind the batters, then serving up a home run ball.

Salem Too Strong For Others . . .

WE PICKED the winner and second place horse in the exciting Kentucky Derby Saturday and we hope our luck holds true on the high school track scene.

Our pick is without a doubt, Salem, a powerful outfit, which has been whipping all competition soundly. The Quakers won it a year ago, and there is no reason why they can't repeat.

It has been Salem and East Palestine battling it out each year, with the East Liverpool Potters usually manging a third - place spot.

THE 1960 meet will go down as one to remember because of the upset pulled in the 100-yard dash.

Tom Brooks of Lisbon and now of North Carolina U., was at the controls when he pulled the rug out from under a pair of the top sprinters in the county.

The dual was to be between East Liverpool's Bob Mackall and George Morris of East Palestine. But Brooks, who had never even seen a track meet before that night, came booming out of the starting block and was never headed in pulling the upset. His time was 10.2.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JACK CRADDOCK, the pioneer sportscaster who handled Pittsburgh Pirate games through the 1940's, will observe his 60th birthday Wednesday. Jack has been a patient in the John J. Kane Hospital in Pittsburgh and has been given only a few months to live.

He served as sportscaster for WOHI before he was taken ill.

We're sure he would appreciate a few cards or letters. They can be sent to the third floor of the hospital.

Some of his friends in Pittsburgh are also planning a "Jack Craddock Day," in the near future.

TWO POTTER opponents from the 1959 football season are doing well at Ohio State. Paul Warfield, the nifty halfback from Warren, scored two touchdowns in the annual intrasquad football game which wound up spring practice Saturday.

WE WILL attempt to pick better games to see in the future, after watching Los Angeles soundly "beat the Bucs" Friday night, 10-0.

If it hadn't been for the brilliant play made by second baseman Bill Mazeroski, we could say the game wasn't worth the price of admission.

But Mazeroski, racing hard to his left, extended himself in mid-air in diving for a sharply hit ground ball, which he collared, then stood up, spun around and threw the runner out at first base. It was one of the prettiest we have ever seen in the Major Leagues.

Owens Waits, Continues Daily Drills At Midland

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Jim Owens, who walked out of major league baseball in March, sat in a dugout at the Midland Crucible Field Monday waiting for a brief drizzle to stop so he could continue his daily workouts.

With the same kind of impatience, Owens is waiting on the sidelines for the Philadelphia Phillies to cook up a trade that would send him to some other major league club.

"I will not pitch for the Phillies," Owens said as he discussed his future in baseball. "I hope the Phillies trade me soon so I can start pitching again."

He returned to Midland where he had spent the off-season working as a bartender at the Midland Hotel for Art Petrosky, a former minor league baseball player himself, who piloted several Midland USW teams to the Pennsylvania Non-Pro titles.

In several talks with John Quinn, Owens said the Phillies' general manager told him to get into shape and the club would allow other major league teams to send scouts and look him over.

Quinn also told Owens the Phils would send their own scouts to check his progress, but so far the righthander hasn't seen any.

So far Milwaukee is the only team that has shown an interest. A Braves' scout showed up in Midland over the weekend, but failed to give Owens any definite answer.

A trade seems to be the only solution, but the Phillies of course don't want to lose money on the 27-year-old hurler.

Owens says he feels good in his drills. Asked if he was experimenting with any new pitches, the California native said "no, just my regular stuff." That consists of a good fast ball, curve and a regular changeup.

Two years ago Owens was one of the brightest prospects on the baseball horizon. Last year, between leaving the club and claiming a back injury, Owens didn't get much of a chance to pitch.

What went on in the 1960 season continued when he and the Phillies met again in Spring training.

In 1959, Owens won 12 games with Philadelphia, but didn't fair so well in 1960. He quit the Phils in spring training last year too, but was back the next day.

Owens can be called a "problem child" and some major league teams shy away from this type of player, but baseball has had them before. Maybe with another club Owens can find himself and regain the old form that made him a topnotch pitcher with a second division club in 1959.

State Golf Title Is Won By Nicklaus

Nicklaus, the former national amateur champ from Ohio State, really carried the mail Monday on OSU's storm-drenched course when he "posted" a par 72 to retain the Ohio Intercollegiate Golf championship.

The finish was "stamped" with the familiar Nicklaus trademark—the ability to come from three strokes off the pace at the halfway mark and carry the back nine in a flashy two-under-par 34.

Jerry Mollenkop, an Ohio University junior from Charleston, W. Va., was already in with his 73 for the 18 holes when Nicklaus made the turn at 38. That meant Jack had to shoot a 34 on the return trip to beat Mollenkop by a stroke.

He did just that, taking three birdies on the back nine.

Nicklaus played the last six holes in a drenching rain that called a halt to his fame on the 15th green. After a half-hour wait, Jack played on, but over a water-soaked course. This year, as last, the tournament was abbreviated from 36 holes to 18 because of the weather.

Ohio State, playing over its 7,120-yard course, took the five-man team title for the fourth straight year with a 376 total. Ohio U. was second with 387, Cincinnati third with 403 and Wooster and Akron, with 411, deadlocked for fourth among the 22-team field.

Umbricht, Mejias Sent To Columbus

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates will have two less players on their roster for their game with the National League leading San Francisco Giants tonight at Forbes Field.

The Pirates, rained out of Monday's game with the Giants, have optioned pitcher Jim Umbricht and outfield Roman Mejias to Columbus of the International League.

The Pirates must cut one more player by midnight Wednesday to get down to the league limit of 25.

The club also announced that Columbus has sold catcher Elmo Plaskett to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix, who has won his only decision this year, will start tonight for the Pirates. He will be opposed by righthander Jack Sanford (1-2).

The third place Pirates have dropped three of their last four games. The Giants have won four straight.

Stith's Running Mate, Crawford, Also Has TB

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—Sophomore basketball star Freddie Crawford, 20, who was counted on to fill All-America Tom Stith's shoes at St. Bonaventure next season, will join Stith instead in a tuberculosis sanatorium.

Crawford's physician said Monday night the high-scoring forward has the disease in both lungs.

Word of Crawford's illness came a week after it was discovered that Stith, the nation's third-ranked collegiate scorer last season, had tuberculosis in one lung. The two roomed together at St. Bonaventure.

The news was a double blow to the little school's chances of regaining its third spot in the national rankings next season. St. Bonaventure Coach Eddie Donovan left to coach the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association Monday.

Crawford, one of the top sophomores in the nation last season, scored 614 points and pulled down 281 rebounds. He averaged almost 22 points a game, second only on the squad to Stith, who averaged more than 29.

Crawford's physician said he would be transferred to Mt. Morris Sanatorium near Rochester late this week from St. Francis Hospital. Stith has been in the sanatorium since Friday.

"We have strong hopes that Freddie will be able to return to school in September but basketball is out for this coming season," the doctor said. "I think he has a good chance a year from now."

The doctor said Crawford probably would be hospitalized about three or four months.

Potter Golf Team Second

The East Liverpool golf team lost to Martins Ferry, 7-4½, but defeated Steubenville Central, 4½-0 in a triangular match Monday at the Steubenville Country Club.

Bob Putt with another 40 over the Steubenville course paced the Potters. The 40 is four over par. Rick Crable finished with a 45, while Bob Gilmore recorded 46 and Dave Thorne 55.

Medalist honors went to Martins Ferry's Jim Brown, also an outstanding basketball player, who shot a 39.

East Liverpool has three meets this week meeting Beaver Local tonight at the Country Club, Youngstown Ursuline here Thursday and Saturday at Ashtabula Harbor.

Trumbull's Dog Show To Be Held May 28

Leetonia Gains 4th Track Win

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Bears picked up their fourth track and field victory in six outings with a 66-43 win over Canfield here Monday afternoon.

Allen Vignon paced Leetonia by taking firsts in the 220-yard dash and the shot put.

Rick Smith captured the 100 in 11 flat while Bob Gullett went over the 180-yard-lows in 23.2.5. Guy Falzetta took the discus and Mike Burgess and Russ Lehman, both of Leetonia tied for first in the high jump.

Both of Leetonia's relay teams won.

'Mudder's Day' Comes Early To Beulah Park

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Mudder's Day" arrived six days early at Beulah Park. A heavy rainstorm Monday made for a sloppy track, and it took Edward G, winner of the featured race, 1:14 1-5 to negotiate the six furlongs.

Ridden by Bobby Bennett, Edward G opened up a big lead on the turn and coasted home with a three-length victory. He paid $15.20.

Nicklaus, the former national amateur champ from Ohio State, really carried the mail Monday on OSU's storm-drenched course when he "posted" a par 72 to retain the Ohio Intercollegiate Golf championship.

The finish was "stamped" with the familiar Nicklaus trademark—the ability to come from three strokes off the pace at the halfway mark and carry the back nine in a flashy two-under-par 34.

Jerry Mollenkop, an Ohio University junior from Charleston, W. Va., was already in with his 73 for the 18 holes when Nicklaus made the turn at 38. That meant Jack had to shoot a 34 on the return trip to beat Mollenkop by a stroke.

He did just that, taking three birdies on the back nine.

Nicklaus played the last six holes in a drenching rain that called a halt to his fame on the 15th green. After a half-hour wait, Jack played on, but over a water-soaked course. This year, as last, the tournament was abbreviated from 36 holes to 18 because of the weather.

Ohio State, playing over its 7,120-yard course, took the five-man team title for the fourth straight year with a 376 total. Ohio U. was second with 387, Cincinnati third with 403 and Wooster and Akron, with 411, deadlocked for fourth among the 22-team field.

The 'Wynn-ing' Way . . .

Less than a year later, on the strength of a fine fork ball and a little added confidence, Wynn has pitched his way to the top of the American League, where he is the leading hurler, up to this point, with a 3-0 record.

And what is even more amazing is his earned run average, a mere 1.17.

The three victories have come on successive Sundays. The first was on April 23 when Hawkins gained the decision in relief. He became Cleveland's "Sunday pitcher," a label tacked on a baseball team's "fifth starter," the following week and calmly defeated the Boston Red Sox, 10-1 on a five-hitter.

This past Sunday was another masterpiece for the ex - Baldwin-Wallace basketball star. He gave up four hits in defeating Washington, 4-2.

Hawkins feels the trip back to the minors last season paid dividends. He won seven of 10 games at Toronto and said after Sunday's game, "I'm a better pitcher for it. I was making too many bad pitches before."

As a result of the bad pitches, Hawkins was falling behind the batters, then serving up a home run ball.

Salem Too Strong For Others . . .

WE PICKED the winner and second place horse in the exciting Kentucky Derby Saturday and we hope our luck holds true on the high school track scene.

Our pick is without a doubt, Salem, a powerful outfit, which has been whipping all competition soundly. The Quakers won it a year ago, and there is no reason why they can't repeat.

It has been Salem and East Palestine battling it out each year, with the East Liverpool Potters usually manging a third - place spot.

THE 1960 meet will go down as one to remember because of the upset pulled in the 100-yard dash.

Tom Brooks of Lisbon and now of North Carolina U., was at the controls when he pulled the rug out from under a pair of the top sprinters in the county.

The dual was to be between East Liverpool's Bob Mackall and George Morris of East Palestine. But Brooks, who had never even seen a track meet before that night, came booming out of the starting block and was never headed in pulling the upset. His time was 10.2.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JACK CRADDOCK, the pioneer sportscaster who handled Pittsburgh Pirate games through the 1940's, will observe his 60th birthday Wednesday. Jack has been a patient in the John J. Kane Hospital in Pittsburgh and has been given only a few months to live.

He served as sportscaster for WOHI before he was taken ill.

We're sure he would appreciate a few cards or letters. They can be sent to the third floor of the hospital.

TWO POTTER opponents from the 1959 football season are doing well at Ohio State. Paul Warfield, the nifty halfback from Warren, scored two touchdowns in the annual intrasquad football game which wound up spring practice Saturday.

WE WILL attempt to pick better games to see in the future, after watching Los Angeles soundly "beat the Bucs" Friday night, 10-0.

If it hadn't been for the brilliant play made by second baseman Bill Mazeroski, we could say the game wasn't worth the price of admission.

Wants To Pitch With Another Club

Owens Waits, Continues Daily Drills At Midland

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Jim Owens, who walked out of major league baseball in March, sat in a dugout at the Midland Crucible Field Monday waiting for a brief drizzle to stop so he could continue his daily workouts.

With the same kind of impatience, Owens is waiting on the sidelines for the Philadelphia Phillies to cook up a trade that would send him to some other major league club.

"I will not pitch for the Phillies," Owens said as he discussed his future in baseball. "I hope the Phillies trade me soon so I can start pitching again."

He returned to Midland where he had spent the off-season working as a bartender at the Midland Hotel for Art Petrosky, a former minor league baseball player himself, who piloted several Midland USW teams to the Pennsylvania Non-Pro titles.

In several talks with John Quinn, Owens said the Phillies' general manager told him to get into shape and the club would allow other major league teams to send scouts and look him over.

So far Milwaukee is the only team that has shown an interest. A Braves' scout showed up in Midland over the weekend, but failed to give Owens any definite answer.

A trade seems to be the only solution, but the Phillies of course don't want to lose money on the 27-year-old hurler.

Owens says he feels good in his drills. Asked if he was experimenting with any new pitches, the California native said "no, just my regular stuff." That consists of a good fast ball, curve and a regular changeup.

Two years ago Owens was one of the brightest prospects on the baseball horizon. Last year, between leaving the club and claiming a back injury, Owens didn't get much of a chance to pitch.

What went on in the 1960 season continued when he and the Phillies met again in Spring training.

In 1959, Owens won 12 games with Philadelphia, but didn't fair so well in 1960. He quit the Phils in spring training last year too, but was back the next day.

Owens can be called a "problem child" and some major league teams shy away from this type of player, but baseball has had them before. Maybe with another club Owens can find himself and regain the old form that made him a topnotch pitcher with a second division club in 1959.

Umbricht, Mejias Sent To Columbus

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates will have two less players on their roster for their game with the National League leading San Francisco Giants tonight at Forbes Field.

The Pirates, rained out of Monday's game with the Giants, have optioned pitcher Jim Umbricht and outfield Roman Mejias to Columbus of the International League.

The Pirates must cut one more player by midnight Wednesday to get down to the league limit of 25.

The club also announced that Columbus has sold catcher Elmo Plaskett to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix, who has won his only decision this year, will start tonight for the Pirates. He will be opposed by righthander Jack Sanford (1-2).

The third place Pirates have dropped three of their last four games. The Giants have won four straight.

Potter Golf Team Second

The East Liverpool golf team lost to Martins Ferry, 7-4½, but defeated Steubenville Central, 4½-0 in a triangular match Monday at the Steubenville Country Club.

Bob Putt with another 40 over the Steubenville course paced the Potters. The 40 is four over par. Rick Crable finished with a 45, while Bob Gilmore recorded 46 and Dave Thorne 55.

Medalist honors went to Martins Ferry's Jim Brown, also an outstanding basketball player, who shot a 39.

Leetonia Gains 4th Track Win

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Bears picked up their fourth track and field victory in six outings with a 66-43 win over Canfield here Monday afternoon.

Rick Smith captured the 100 in 11 flat while Bob Gullett went over the 180-yard-lows in 23.2.5. Guy Falzetta took the discus and Mike Burgess and Russ Lehman, both of Leetonia tied for first in the high jump.

Both of Leetonia's relay teams won.

'Mudder's Day' Comes Early To Beulah Park

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"Mudder's Day" arrived six days early at Beulah Park. A heavy rainstorm Monday made for a sloppy track, and it took Edward G, winner of the featured race, 1:14 1-5 to negotiate the six furlongs.

Ridden by Bobby Bennett, Edward G opened up a big lead on the turn and coasted home with a three-length victory. He paid $15.20.

Stith's Running Mate, Crawford, Also Has TB

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP)—Sophomore basketball star Freddie Crawford, 20, who was counted on to fill All-America Tom Stith's shoes at St. Bonaventure next season, will join Stith instead in a tuberculosis sanatorium.

Crawford's physician said Monday night the high-scoring forward has the disease in both lungs.

Word of Crawford's illness came a week after it was discovered that Stith, the nation's third-ranked collegiate scorer last season, had tuberculosis in one lung. The two roomed together at St. Bonaventure.

The news was a double blow to the little school's chances of regaining its third spot in the national rankings next season. St. Bonaventure Coach Eddie Donovan left to coach the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association Monday.

Crawford, one of the top sophomores in the nation last season, scored 614 points and pulled down 281 rebounds. He averaged almost 22 points a game, second only on the squad to Stith, who averaged more than 29.

Crawford's physician said he would be transferred to Mt. Morris Sanatorium near Rochester late this week from St. Francis Hospital. Stith has been in the sanatorium since Friday.

"We have strong hopes that Freddie will be able to return to school in September but basketball is out for this coming season," the doctor said. "I think he has a good chance a year from now."

The doctor said Crawford probably would be hospitalized about three or four months.

Bonnies' Donovan New Knickerbocker Coach

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Donovan, a highly successful college coach at St. Bonaventure, will try to make the big jump into professional basketball next season with the New York Knickerbockers.

Coaching the Knicks has become a thankless job in recent years as the teams fortunes drooped. The last victim to get the axe was Carl Braun, former star player, who was given his release Monday to make way for Donovan.

"I am tickled to death to have him (Donovan)," said Ned Irish, president of Madison Square Garden which operates the Knicks in the National Basketball Association. "I don't think I could be happier with any other coach. I never thought we could get him away from his paradise in Olean (the upstate New York city where St. Bonaventure is located.)

"We had to make a change. We couldn't start next year with a 21-58 record. I don't think there is a better coach in the United States than Eddie. We made a mistake to stick with our old team too long. Now we are paying for it."

Donovan said his contract at St. Bonaventure runs out this year. He led the Bonnies to the No. 3 position in college basketball this year with a 24-4 record.

Rinaldi, Moore Title March Slated June 10

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy's Giulio Rinaldi is confident he will beat Archie Moore again but the betting today is 12-5 in favor of the aging light heavyweight champion.

There's still a month and a day before the two clash at Madison Square Garden June 10 and the odds can switch considerably before then. It will depend on how the swarthy, thick-necked Italian champion looks in his workouts and how old Archie fares in his perennial battle with the scales.

Archie hasn't been forced to make the 175 pound limit since Aug. 12, 1959, when he flattened Yvon Durelle in the third round of their second title fight. The ancient gladiator scaled 201 in Manila last March 25 when he outpointed Buddy Turman.

Moore weighed 190¼ to Rinaldi's 181¼ in Rome last Oct. 29 when the Italian upset Archie in a non-title 10-rounder that earned him the title shot.

That loss—Moore's first to a light heavyweight in 9½ years—is one of the reasons for handsome Giulio's confidence in the return. Another is age—26 to 44.

Talking to newsmen after his arrival from Italy Monday, he explained that he didn't do well against Archie in the early rounds "because I had so much respect for him and I was too timid."

"But I went after him good in the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds," he said in Italian as an interpreter translated.

New Champ Certain In ABC Masters

DETROIT (AP)—The American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament set about the process of determining a new champion today with the 1960 defending titlist out of the running.

The spindly Detroit star was dumped in the first round by his teammate and buddy, Joe Joseph. Joseph cut loose with a 950 series, the second best four-game set in the tournament, against Golembiewski's 800.

Bill Gaume, a longshot from Canton, Ohio, was Golembiewski's final undoing. Gaume shot only 772 but Golembiewski got only 738.

Yanks Get Cerv, Clevenger

Duren Goes In Trade With Angels

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The New York Yankees, who open a two-game series here tonight, have been bolstered in two departments by a trade with the Los Angeles Angels. It was a deal in which the Angels gambled on Ryne Duren and "youth."

The Bronx bombers, hard up for late-inning relief pitching and right-handed pinch hitting, got Truman Clevenger and slugger Bob Cerv. In return they gave the Angels Duren, a hard-throwing but often erratic relief pitcher; pitcher Johnny James; outfielder Leroy Thomas; and an unnamed outfielder.

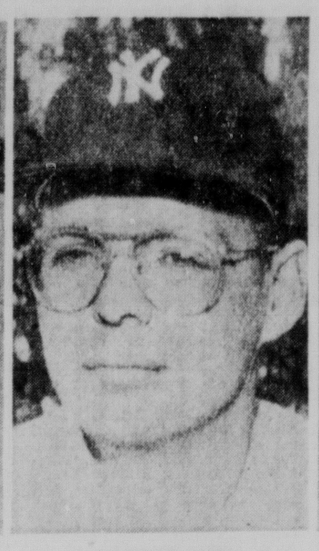
"We wanted Clevenger," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, "to be a finisher on our relief staff. (Luis) Arroyo has been doing all of the late-inning work and we needed someone to help him."

Clevenger, a 28-year-old right-hander, has pitched superbly in relief for the Angels, appearing in 12 games and permitting an average of less than two earned runs. He has a 2-1 record.

Duren, 31, one of the hardest throwing pitchers in the majors, was the Yankees' ace reliever in 1958 and 1959, when he posted ERA's of 2.01 and 1.87. He's been ineffective this year, but, said Angels Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney in Los Angeles:

"I think Duren will be a better pitcher for us over the long haul than Clevenger. I didn't want to peddle Clevenger and tried two or three other guys in there, but I couldn't make a deal that way. I'll be panned on this deal, but I don't give a damn who wins the pennant this year if we can't."

LEROY THOMAS



RYNE DUREN

JOHNNY JAMES

Thomas, who bats left handed and throws right, hit .246 for Richmond of the International League last season. In two times at bat for the Yankees this season he had one hit.

James, a right-hander, posted a 4.40 ERA with New York last year, winning five games and losing one. He also won three and lost two for Richmond.

This will be the veteran Cerv's third stretch with the Yankees, interspersed by tours with Kansas City and the Angels. He had his best season in 1958, when he hit .305 for Kansas City. He appeared in 18 games for Los Angeles, but was hitting only about .200.

Tribe Opens Chicago Series

Dykes Gives Indians Pep Talk, Proud Of Pitchers

CHICAGO (AP)—Manager Jimmie Dykes has told the Cleveland Indians they have the stuff to win the American League pennant.

"We're not getting the long ball and we're not getting the timely hit," Dykes said Monday after delivering a pep talk to the players behind closed doors. "And still we're holding our own.

The Indians came here for a two-game series with the slumping Chicago White Sox starting tonight. The Sox have lost seven in a row—longest in Al Lopez' 11-year career as a manager— and have dropped to the cellar of the 10-team league Cleveland, with an 11-10 record, is five games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers.

Dykes said he called the clubhouse meeting in Cleveland after a practice was rained out. "I did it mostly because I didn't want the boys to get discouraged," he explained, adding:

"Washington came in and knocked us off two out of three, and that last one was rough. That sort of thing can upset you. But they're not discouraged, just frustrated."

Dykes introduced Gabe Paul, the new general manager, to the players. "I just told them this was probably the last time they'd ever see me in the clubhouse," Paul said. "This is their domain."

"We still think Bond is a great prospect," said Paul. "And if we need him—and he gets hot—he'll be back this season," said the general manager.

Hoot Evers, Cleveland's director of player personnel and a big Bond booster, believes the long-legged outfielder was much too tight and nervous to play up to his capability.

FIGHT RESULTS

New York (St. Nicholas Arena) —Vince Martinez, 152½, Paterson, N.J., outpointed Miguel Angelo Augero, 155½, Argentina, 10.

Chicago (Marigold Arena) — Bobby Stininato, 169, Cleveland, stopped Tom Caldwell, 165, Chicago, 5.

Geoffrion Named As Most Valuable

MONTREAL (AP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, whose late-season surge carried him to a record-equaling 50 goals, was named the National Hockey League's most valuable player for the 1960-61 season today.

The 30-year-old Montreal right winger edged Johnny Bower, veteran Toronto goalie, and Gordie Howe of Detroit, a five-time MVP, in the split-season voting by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

Geoffrion drew 84 points, Bower 71 and Howe 66 in the final tabulation. In the first half balloting which included games of Dec. 29. Bower led with 48 points while Geoffrion was fourth with 29.

2 Screened For Post At Beaver Local

Reports of interviews with two prospective candidates for the Beaver Local High School basketball and football coach post were given at a meeting of the board of education Monday night.

The board will replace Jack Frontone, head coach, whose formal resignation was accepted at last night's meeting. Frontone, who announced he was leaving the coaching post, still holds a teacher contract.

Suarez and McCall will meet with the board at the next meeting May 22.

Moundsville Mentor Will Handle Stars

The 39-year-old Helinski, who has posted one of the best won-lost records of any coach in valley football history, has been named head mentor of the West Virginia aggregation for the Aug. 14 encounter at Wheeling Stadium.

Back in 1940, when the all-star game was founded, Helinski, a star back at Union High School, sparked the West Virginia club to a comeback victory.

Helinski played halfback for WVU but, after the 1942 season, left school to enter the army. Fighting in World War 2, he received the Purple Heart after being wounded in action.

New Champ Certain In ABC Masters

DETROIT (AP)—The American Bowling Congress Masters Tournament set about the process of determining a new champion today with the 1960 defending titlist out of the running.

The spindly Detroit star was dumped in the first round by his teammate and buddy, Joe Joseph. Joseph cut loose with a 950 series, the second best four-game set in the tournament, against Golembiewski's 800.

Bill Gaume, a longshot from Canton, Ohio, was Golembiewski's final undoing. Gaume shot only 772 but Golembiewski got only 738.

Yanks Get Cerv, Clevenger

Duren Goes In Trade With Angels

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The New York Yankees, who open a two-game series here tonight, have been bolstered in two departments by a trade with the Los Angeles Angels. It was a deal in which the Angels gambled on Ryne Duren and "youth."

The Bronx bombers, hard up for late-inning relief pitching and right-handed pinch hitting, got Truman Clevenger and slugger Bob Cerv. In return they gave the Angels Duren, a hard-throwing but often erratic relief pitcher; pitcher Johnny James; outfielder Leroy Thomas; and an unnamed outfielder.

"We wanted Clevenger," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, "to be a finisher on our relief staff. (Luis) Arroyo has been doing all of the late-inning work and we needed someone to help him."

Clevenger, a 28-year-old right-hander, has pitched superbly in relief for the Angels, appearing in 12 games and permitting an average of less than two earned runs. He has a 2-1 record.

Duren, 31, one of the hardest throwing pitchers in the majors, was the Yankees' ace reliever in 1958 and 1959, when he posted ERA's of 2.01 and 1.87. He's been ineffective this year, but, said Angels Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney in Los Angeles:

"I think Duren will be a better pitcher for us over the long haul than Clevenger. I didn't want to peddle Clevenger and tried two or three other guys in there, but I couldn't make a deal that way. I'll be panned on this deal, but I don't give a damn who wins the pennant this year if we can't."

LEROY THOMAS

RYNE DUREN

JOHNNY JAMES

Thomas, who bats left handed and throws right, hit .246 for Richmond of the International League last season. In two times at bat for the Yankees this season he had one hit.

James, a right-hander, posted a 4.40 ERA with New York last year, winning five games and losing one. He also won three and lost two for Richmond.

This will be the veteran Cerv's third stretch with the Yankees, interspersed by tours with Kansas City and the Angels. He had his best season in 1958, when he hit .305 for Kansas City. He appeared in 18 games for Los Angeles, but was hitting only about .200.

Tribe Opens Chicago Series

Dykes Gives Indians Pep Talk, Proud Of Pitchers

CHICAGO (AP)—Manager Jimmie Dykes has told the Cleveland Indians they have the stuff to win the American League pennant.

"We're not getting the long ball and we're not getting the timely hit," Dykes said Monday after delivering a pep talk to the players behind closed doors. "And still we're holding our own.

The Indians came here for a two-game series with the slumping Chicago White Sox starting tonight. The Sox have lost seven in a row—longest in Al Lopez' 11-year career as a manager— and have dropped to the cellar of the 10-team league Cleveland, with an 11-10 record, is five games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers.

Dykes said he called the clubhouse meeting in Cleveland after a practice was rained out. "I did it mostly because I didn't want the boys to get discouraged," he explained, adding:

"Washington came in and knocked us off two out of three, and that last one was rough. That sort of thing can upset you. But they're not discouraged, just frustrated."

Dykes introduced Gabe Paul, the new general manager, to the players. "I just told them this was probably the last time they'd ever see me in the clubhouse," Paul said. "This is their domain."

"We still think Bond is a great prospect," said Paul. "And if we need him—and he gets hot—he'll be back this season," said the general manager.

Hoot Evers, Cleveland's director of player personnel and a big Bond booster, believes the long-legged outfielder was much too tight and nervous to play up to his capability.

Geoffrion Named As Most Valuable

MONTREAL (AP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, whose late-season surge carried him to a record-equaling 50 goals, was named the National Hockey League's most valuable player for the 1960-61 season today.

The 30-year-old Montreal right winger edged Johnny Bower, veteran Toronto goalie, and Gordie Howe of Detroit, a five-time MVP, in the split-season voting by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities.

Geoffrion drew 84 points, Bower 71 and Howe 66 in the final tabulation. In the first half balloting which included games of Dec. 29. Bower led with 48 points while Geoffrion was fourth with 29.

2 Screened For Post At Beaver Local

Reports of interviews with two prospective candidates for the Beaver Local High School basketball and football coach post were given at a meeting of the board of education Monday night.

R. J. Schiff and Arnold Green of the athletic committee reported on talks with Floreal Suarez, assistant basketball and football coach, and with Thomas McCall, freshman basketball and assistant football coach.

The board will replace Jack Frontone, head coach, whose formal resignation was accepted at last night's meeting. Frontone, who announced he was leaving the coaching post, still holds a teacher contract.

Suarez and McCall will meet with the board at the next meeting May 22.

Moundsville Mentor Will Handle Stars

The 39-year-old Helinski, who has posted one of the best won-lost records of any coach in valley football history, has been named head mentor of the West Virginia aggregation for the Aug. 14 encounter at Wheeling Stadium.

Back in 1940, when the all-star game was founded, Helinski, a star back at Union High School, sparked the West Virginia club to a comeback victory.

Helinski played halfback for WVU but, after the 1942 season, left school to enter the army. Fighting in World War 2, he received the Purple Heart after being wounded in action.

Johnson Leaves For Asia To Pledge U.S. Support

On his two-week trip Johnson will visit South Viet Nam, the Philippines, Formosa, Thailand, India and Pakistan. He may also make a stop in Greece.

"I believe that by timing and by itinerary this trip speaks for itself," Johnson said in a departure statement at Andrews Air Force Base.

"The United States is vitally concerned with the peace, security, and independence of the free peoples in Asia. We are disturbed by the threat of armed aggression there."

Johnson's first stop will be at Hawaii where he gives a speech late today.

The vice president took off at 8:09 a.m. aboard a U.S. military jet transport plane with new markings designed to emphasize the peaceful purposes of American VIP trips abroad.

The Boeing 707 jet, which formerly had "Air Force" in large letters across its side, now shows "United States of America" and has an American flag painted on the tail assembly.

About 30 aides accompanied Johnson on the official plane, including Stephen B. Smith and Smith's wife, a sister of President Kennedy. Smith has a State Department job connected with Southeast Asian affairs.

Authoritative sources said Johnson would take to South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem a Kennedy offer of bigger U.S. military aid but not American troops.

Kennedy was said to be deeply concerned about the strategic Indochina republic where, according to U.S. intelligence, Soviet and Chinese-supported guerrillas are waging a bigger campaign than they have next door in tottering Laos.

Diplomatic informants said Johnson will tell Diem the United States is ready to step up its arms aid by about $40 million, which would involve weapons and training and would about double the present U.S. military assistance.

This would enable Diem to boost his 150,000-man army by another 20,000 in his campaign against Red terrorist guerrillas. Washington would also like to see Diem increase his own outlay to match the U.S. rise.

While the use of U.S. armed forces is being considered to help South Viet Nam if necessary, they will not be offered without a Diem request—and Diem does not intend to ask Johnson for them.

At Manila, Bangkok and Rawalpindi, Pakistan's new capital, Johnson planned to reassure the chiefs of these Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies who have wondered about the staunchness of the United States as Laos slipped to creeping communism.

The vice president is skipping over Laos and neutral Cambodia and Burma during his journey, which will coincide with the scheduled 14-nation Laos peace conference starting in Geneva May 12. At New Delhi he will see a major unaligned leader, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

As Private Citizen

Ike Says He'll Discuss, Argue Public Questions

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower served notice today that as a private citizen he will "discuss and argue" public questions as long as he has the strength and opportunity.

He announced his intention in an article in the Saturday Evening Post—the first he has written since leaving the White House Jan. 20.

He also disclosed that he was not sure he would not have sought a third term—if the Constitution had permitted and if he could have foreseen the Republican defeat in the presidential election.

Eisenhower said his decision to continue to play an active role in public affairs was reached as he and his wife were driving from Washington to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm after President Kennedy's inauguration.

"Suddenly, it seemed to me, this new life of mine promised a new kind of personal adventure," he wrote.

He said he long had believed the long-term health and vigor of the nation's free government depended on the level of each citizen's interest in America's basic problems "and his readiness to discuss and argue with his fellows."

And, he continued, "I then and there determined to be a participant in such discussions and arguments as long as I might retain the strength and find the opportunity to do so."

Telling of the sights as well as his thoughts on the countryside journey, he said his wife and he were given a heart-warming welcome by students and nuns of St. Joseph College near Emmitsburg, Md.

"And so we approached the farm," he resumed. "But I was still thinking, what next? What, if anything, can I do to stir up the public interest in important public issues?

"There is little reason for me or anyone else to think and talk of or to live in the past, smugly hugging to himself memories of successes or futilely bewailing setbacks.

"The task is to use the past and its experiences to help us peer more clearly into the future and to do our best to make it better.

"This, in my own way, I shall try to do . . . I think it will be fun; I hope it will be useful."

Eisenhower left no doubt he was upset at the defeat of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency and that this conceivably could have changed his thinking about the hypothetical possibility of a third term.

He indicated that one of the questions most frequently asked of him is: "Had there been no 22nd Amendment (restricting a president to two terms), would you have been, again, a candidate for the presidency?"

Eisenhower noted that he had said publicly prior to the election that he thought more than two terms were neither wise nor desirable—even if there were no such amendment.

"But the election upset my calculations, reversed my expectations and exploded my plans and, if I could have foreseen this development, what would I have then said? I think I know—but how can I be absolutely sure? I do not see what more one can say than que sera, sera (what will be, will be."

Hosler, Findlay Man, Named U.S. Marshal

CLEVELAND (AP) — R. Ben Hosler of Findlay, 39-year-old Hancock County Democratic chairman, has been appointed by President Kennedy to be United States Marshal for the Northern District of Ohio. Hosler expects no trouble receiving Senate confirmation to the $12,730-a-year job. Both Ohio senators—Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young—have assured him he was their "one and only choice," Hosler said Monday night.

Albert J. Jacobs has been serving as marshal on an interim basis. He was named by the federal judges after the death of Xavier North several years ago.

Actor James Fairfax Dies Of Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television and movie actor James Fairfax, 63, is dead of an apparent heart attack in Tahiti, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials reported.

The veteran character actor, on location for filming "Mutiny On the Bounty," died Monday. He was known to television viewers as the English steward in the "Oh Susanna" series with Gale Storm.

Woman, 22, Stabs Husband To Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Arthur Wilson, 22, stabbed her husband, 27, to death with a pair of scissors Monday night, police reported. Their seven children were nearby.

Police held Mrs. Wilson. She told them her husband had argued about the children and tried to bar her way a moment after ordering her to leave their apartment on the Southeast Side. The youngest child is hers from the present marriage, she said, while the others are Wilson's from previous marriages.

Legion Of Honor Goes To Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Kenyon C. Bolton, president of the Cleveland Council on World Affairs, was awarded the Legion of Honor Monday night by French Ambassador Herve Alphand.

Bolton was cited for his long association with the Free French Forces under Gen. De Gaulle in World War II and with the post-war French government, as a representative of the Defense Department and then of the State Department.

Cmdr. Shepard Returns Home With His Family

Perhaps trying to spare Shepard the commotion that has attended him since his brief journey into space last Friday, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) declined to say just when the astronaut and his family would leave here.

Hearing Is Continued In Youngstown Case

A hearing for two East Liverpool men booked on charges following fist fights April 23 in a Youngstown restaurant has been continued until 10 a. m. next Monday.

The hearing originally was set for yesterday, but a postponement was granted.

Lawrence W. Smith, 47, of 2504 St. Clair Ave. and James J. McGowan, 40, of 1313 Riverview St. were released in custody of Atty. John Powers. The two were accused of "drunkenness and disturbance" after being beaten by two Youngstown area men when they objected to the unfair treatment of six other men in an earlier fight at the Purple Cow restaurant.

Will Support Cuba, Czech Official Says

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Valdemar Tolbichek, Czechoslovakian ambassador to Cuba, told a television audience in Havana Monday night that his country will support the Cuban revolution, "economically and, if need be, by direct military assistance to the end."

To Visit 6 Nations

Johnson Leaves For Asia To Pledge U.S. Support

On his two-week trip Johnson will visit South Viet Nam, the Philippines, Formosa, Thailand, India and Pakistan. He may also make a stop in Greece.

"I believe that by timing and by itinerary this trip speaks for itself," Johnson said in a departure statement at Andrews Air Force Base.

"The United States is vitally concerned with the peace, security, and independence of the free peoples in Asia. We are disturbed by the threat of armed aggression there."

Johnson's first stop will be at Hawaii where he gives a speech late today.

The vice president took off at 8:09 a.m. aboard a U.S. military jet transport plane with new markings designed to emphasize the peaceful purposes of American VIP trips abroad.

The Boeing 707 jet, which formerly had "Air Force" in large letters across its side, now shows "United States of America" and has an American flag painted on the tail assembly.

About 30 aides accompanied Johnson on the official plane, including Stephen B. Smith and Smith's wife, a sister of President Kennedy. Smith has a State Department job connected with Southeast Asian affairs.

Authoritative sources said Johnson would take to South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem a Kennedy offer of bigger U.S. military aid but not American troops.

Kennedy was said to be deeply concerned about the strategic Indochina republic where, according to U.S. intelligence, Soviet and Chinese-supported guerrillas are waging a bigger campaign than they have next door in tottering Laos.

Diplomatic informants said Johnson will tell Diem the United States is ready to step up its arms aid by about $40 million, which would involve weapons and training and would about double the present U.S. military assistance.

This would enable Diem to boost his 150,000-man army by another 20,000 in his campaign against Red terrorist guerrillas. Washington would also like to see Diem increase his own outlay to match the U.S. rise.

While the use of U.S. armed forces is being considered to help South Viet Nam if necessary, they will not be offered without a Diem request—and Diem does not intend to ask Johnson for them.

At Manila, Bangkok and Rawalpindi, Pakistan's new capital, Johnson planned to reassure the chiefs of these Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies who have wondered about the staunchness of the United States as Laos slipped to creeping communism.

The vice president is skipping over Laos and neutral Cambodia and Burma during his journey, which will coincide with the scheduled 14-nation Laos peace conference starting in Geneva May 12. At New Delhi he will see a major unaligned leader, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

As Private Citizen

Ike Says He'll Discuss, Argue Public Questions

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower served notice today that as a private citizen he will "discuss and argue" public questions as long as he has the strength and opportunity.

He announced his intention in an article in the Saturday Evening Post—the first he has written since leaving the White House Jan. 20.

He also disclosed that he was not sure he would not have sought a third term—if the Constitution had permitted and if he could have foreseen the Republican defeat in the presidential election.

Eisenhower said his decision to continue to play an active role in public affairs was reached as he and his wife were driving from Washington to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm after President Kennedy's inauguration.

"Suddenly, it seemed to me, this new life of mine promised a new kind of personal adventure," he wrote.

He said he long had believed the long-term health and vigor of the nation's free government depended on the level of each citizen's interest in America's basic problems "and his readiness to discuss and argue with his fellows."

And, he continued, "I then and there determined to be a participant in such discussions and arguments as long as I might retain the strength and find the opportunity to do so."

Telling of the sights as well as his thoughts on the countryside journey, he said his wife and he were given a heart-warming welcome by students and nuns of St. Joseph College near Emmitsburg, Md.

"And so we approached the farm," he resumed. "But I was still thinking, what next? What, if anything, can I do to stir up the public interest in important public issues?

"Before we arrived at our front door I reached one simple conclusion:

"There is little reason for me or anyone else to think and talk of or to live in the past, smugly hugging to himself memories of successes or futilely bewailing setbacks.

"The task is to use the past and its experiences to help us peer more clearly into the future and to do our best to make it better.

"This, in my own way, I shall try to do . . . I think it will be fun; I hope it will be useful."

Eisenhower left no doubt he was upset at the defeat of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency and that this conceivably could have changed his thinking about the hypothetical possibility of a third term.

He indicated that one of the questions most frequently asked of him is: "Had there been no 22nd Amendment (restricting a president to two terms), would you have been, again, a candidate for the presidency?"

Eisenhower noted that he had said publicly prior to the election that he thought more than two terms were neither wise nor desirable—even if there were no such amendment.

"But the election upset my calculations, reversed my expectations and exploded my plans and, if I could have foreseen this development, what would I have then said? I think I know—but how can I be absolutely sure? I do not see what more one can say than que sera, sera (what will be, will be."

Hosler, Findlay Man, Named U.S. Marshal

CLEVELAND (AP) — R. Ben Hosler of Findlay, 39-year-old Hancock County Democratic chairman, has been appointed by President Kennedy to be United States Marshal for the Northern District of Ohio. Hosler expects no trouble receiving Senate confirmation to the $12,730-a-year job. Both Ohio senators—Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young—have assured him he was their "one and only choice," Hosler said Monday night.

Albert J. Jacobs has been serving as marshal on an interim basis. He was named by the federal judges after the death of Xavier North several years ago.

Actor James Fairfax Dies Of Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television and movie actor James Fairfax, 63, is dead of an apparent heart attack in Tahiti, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials reported.

The veteran character actor, on location for filming "Mutiny On the Bounty," died Monday. He was known to television viewers as the English steward in the "Oh Susanna" series with Gale Storm.

Woman, 22, Stabs Husband To Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Arthur Wilson, 22, stabbed her husband, 27, to death with a pair of scissors Monday night, police reported. Their seven children were nearby.

Police held Mrs. Wilson. She told them her husband had argued about the children and tried to bar her way a moment after ordering her to leave their apartment on the Southeast Side. The youngest child is hers from the present marriage, she said, while the others are Wilson's from previous marriages.

Legion Of Honor Goes To Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Kenyon C. Bolton, president of the Cleveland Council on World Affairs, was awarded the Legion of Honor Monday night by French Ambassador Herve Alphand.

Bolton was cited for his long association with the Free French Forces under Gen. De Gaulle in World War II and with the postwar French government, as a representative of the Defense Department and then of the State Department.

Cmdr. Shepard Returns Home With His Family

Perhaps trying to spare Shepard the commotion that has attended him since his brief journey into space last Friday, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) declined to say just when the astronaut and his family would leave here.

An Atlantic Ocean resort preparing for the summer tourist season, Virginia Beach is not the place a person normally goes to escape the limelight.

City officials, however, apparently were caught by surprise by the announcement Shepard was coming home.

Hearing Is Continued In Youngstown Case

A hearing for two East Liverpool men booked on charges following fist fights April 23 in a Youngstown restaurant has been continued until 10 a. m. next Monday.

The hearing originally was set for yesterday, but a postponement was granted.

Lawrence W. Smith, 47, of 2504 St. Clair Ave. and James J. McGowan, 40, of 1313 Riverview St. were released in custody of Atty. John Powers. The two were accused of "drunkenness and disturbance" after being beaten by two Youngstown area men when they objected to the unfair treatment of six other men in an earlier fight at the Purple Cow restaurant.

Will Support Cuba, Czech Official Says

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Valdemar Tolbichek, Czechoslovakian ambassador to Cuba, told a television audience in Havana Monday night that his country will support the Cuban revolution, "economically and, if need be, by direct military assistance to the end."

Cuba has been receiving Czech-made arms, including rifles and tanks.

Firm Co-Founder Dies

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Charles Benson Wigton, 75, co-founder of the Wigton-Abbott Corp. and one of the pioneers of the package plant construction idea, died Sunday after a long illness. Wigton, who served as mayor of Plainfield in 1933-34, was born in Philadelphia.

Morality Play Has Its Devoted Fans

For whatever it's worth to sponsors seeking performing idols with which to enhance their image, Loretta Young, Barbara Stanwyck and June Allyson — all about to be dispossessed from TV — have rabid fans.

Marie Torre

Not only rabid fans, but also letter-writing fans who wield a protective pen against all detractors, against all who dare look askance at the manner in which the ladies disseminate a moralistic message on TV.

This we learned the hard way.

IT WAS NOTED by this pillar recently that radio got rid of soap opera when broadcasters decided that audiences did not want to be insulated from the realities of the modern world, and apparently television is having a similar awakening, what with the wholesale dismissal of Misses Young, Stanwyck and Allyson, leading purveyors of the morality play.

Well, Virginia! The mail flowed hot and heavy. No subject during the past year has brought to this desk a greater number of written comments, or angrier mail.

"We seem to object when our television dramas have no morals," wrote Shirley Burden of New York, "and now we object when they have morals. Exactly what do you want?"

"IT'S A SAD commentary on you and the sponsors," wrote Gerta Swengren of New York, "when Loretta Young with her good example in every aspect of life receives a review. . . .ridiculing her for giving a moral. . . . She fights prejudices, juvenile delinquency and marital unfaithfulness in her programs."

A New Rochelle (N.Y.) reader challenged our reference to the anthologies of Misses Young, Stanwyck and Allyson as "night-time soap operas."

"I think," wrote Mary T. Gardner, "that this is a very derogatory way to refer to the fine talents of such outstanding actresses. In most cases, the plays have very interesting and absorbing plots, too—more than I can say for those Westerns which dominate the TV screen."

"I could write this on very virile paper which smells of horses to assure you I'm not some effeminate male easily impressed by maudlin sentimentality, but this will have to do.

"Allow me to show my displeasure of the mocking tone with which you 'reported' the failure of the 'Loretta Young Show' to remain on weekly television. Knowing full well that you have the network on your side, allow me to say I happily join the 'losing' side and consider Miss Young and her shows of high caliber."

And so the letters went—virulent, resentful, heated beyond words.

OUR DEFENSE? True, it's easier to be critical than to be correct, but we were, we fear, misunderstood.

There can be no quarrel with the moralizing on TV, and we'd be among the last to condemn it, but do morals have to be administered with a sugar coating?

Must they be interpreted through playlets that are cliche-ridden, soporific, most times downright sorry excuses for the acting talents of Misses Young, Allyson and Stanwyck?

Frankly, we prefer to take our morals from some of the religious TV dramas, which do an increasingly good job of integrating messages into performances. This we would call honest drama, or at least drama without "soap."

WHILE NBC moves ahead with color TV, CBS promises no color-casting at all next season, not even the annual "Wizard of Oz" movie, which is scheduled for monochrome next Christmas. . . .

The subject of commuter trains will preoccupy the next NBC "White Paper" on May 23, the documentary to be titled "Railroads: End of the Line?" . . .

A budget of $500,000 has been allotted to "The Power and the Glory," the 90-minute production which will go into rehearsal on May 12 and will be taped during the following four weeks with Sir Laurence Olivier. No sponsor or network has yet been approached for the property, which Talent Associates—Paramount, Ltd., will put on the market for 1961-62 season.

Senate OK's Holmes As Iran Ambassador

The vote overrode demands that Holmes' role in some surplus ship deals in the 1940s should disqualify him.

The 63-17 roll call vote capped some blunt debate. It swirled about the propriety of a business venture in which career diplomat Holmes and a group of associates realized $3.25 million on a $101,000 investment in war surplus ships purchased from the government.

Teachers Get Raise

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Board of Education has unanimously approved salary increases totaling about $870,000 a year for Cleveland's 4,000 teachers and 520 principals. The raises are effective Sept. 1.

First Grader Signup Slated

A pre-school registration of children who will enter first grade in September has been scheduled for Wednesday in 11 elementary schools, Supt. Ralph W. Betts reminded parents today.

Registration will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 Wednesday morning at Garfield, Klondyke, LaCroft, Pleasant Heights and Taft, and from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. at Glenmoor, Horace Mann, Lincoln, McKinley, Neville and Westgate.

Because of a special effort to complete personnel records, a parent or guardian must accompany the child to the registration, Betts emphasized. No other children will be registered, he added.

Because it now is mandatory that all children be immunized against polio, tetanus, diphtheria, smallpox and whooping cough, parents were asked to bring certificates from the family physician indicating the immunizations received. Birth certificates of the children also must be presented at the registration, Betts said.

In order to enroll in first grade, a child must be 6 on or before Sept. 15, he warned.

West Point's Firemen Open Weekly Classes

Classes are held each Monday from 7 to 10 p. m. at the fire station with Asst. Chief Alfred R. Van Dyne of East Liverpool as the instructor. Jack Plunkett is chief of the West Point department.

The course is offered by the trade and industrial vocational education service of the State Department of Education, with the Beaver Local School District cooperating.

Certificates will be presented members who complete the course, which covers topics such as community fire defense, fire pumps and care of apparatus, fire fighting appliances, use of hose and rope, gases and gas masks and fire fighting tactics.

J.P. Is Sentenced To Hang—'All In Fun'

It was all in fun, of course, and Richburg got a reprieve Monday from former Chancery Judge James H. Pilkington.

The mock trial sprang from a remark Richburg made a month ago when he was trying a prisoner who stole a car and drove it to Hope.

"I've been to Hope," Richburg said. "Being there is punishment enough for anybody." He reduced the prisoner's bond so he could go free.

President Proclaims May 14 Mothers Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proclaimed next Sunday Mothers Day—calling for display of the national flag at all public buildings and private homes.

The President called on citizens to "manifest through private and public expressions the reverent esteem in which we hold our mothers."

"The American mother, as the heart of the American home, by her labor and love instills in our homes and nurtures in our children the spirit of our country," Kennedy's proclamation stated.

West Point's Firemen Open Weekly Classes

The course is offered by the trade and industrial vocational education service of the State Department of Education, with the Beaver Local School District cooperating.

Certificates will be presented members who complete the course, which covers topics such as community fire defense, fire pumps and care of apparatus, fire fighting appliances, use of hose and rope, gases and gas masks and fire fighting tactics.

It was all in fun, of course, and Richburg got a reprieve Monday from former Chancery Judge James H. Pilkington.

The mock trial sprang from a remark Richburg made a month ago when he was trying a prisoner who stole a car and drove it to Hope.

"I've been to Hope," Richburg said. "Being there is punishment enough for anybody." He reduced the prisoner's bond so he could go free.

President Proclaims May 14 Mothers Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proclaimed next Sunday Mothers Day—calling for display of the national flag at all public buildings and private homes.

The President called on citizens to "manifest through private and public expressions the reverent esteem in which we hold our mothers."

"The American mother, as the heart of the American home, by her labor and love instills in our homes and nurtures in our children the spirit of our country," Kennedy's proclamation stated.
